LEWIS BOWS TO FDR ON MINES

Scary Ol' Witch Can't Frighten This Wee Mansfield Halloweener

"OOOH, GEE!—What's this, a wicked ol' Halloween witch?" asks Kay Ellen English, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. English, 516 Wood street, as she discovers a bit of "spook night" decoration.

"HO, HO!—It's no witch at all . . . it's just a scary little mask on a great big pumpkin. See. I can even pull the ol' witch's hair and she doesn't even run after a broomstick to chase me with."

"NOW—Just to prove I'm not afraid I'm going to take the ol' pumpkin-witch's hat right away from her. Then . . . close your eyes. Don't look for just a minute."

"BOOO!!—I bet I scared YOU. I'm the witch now and tonight I'm gonna come riding right past your window and shriek 'Booooo!' again, like I did just now."

"HA, HA, HA!—No, I won't come around your house tonight. I was only fooling . . . 'cause I know Halloween's the time to play jokes."

Workers Start Back to Jobs On Night Shift

CIO Chief Reveals Acceptance of FDR Proposal After Conference With Union Leaders; Congressional Agitation Seen Subsiding.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis announced today that the United Mine Workers had accepted President Roosevelt's proposal for reopening the strike-bound captive coal mines and added that the men would return as fast as arrangements could be made locally.

In some areas, Lewis said, the night shifts may return tonight. Other mines, he asserted, could be reopened tomorrow.

Lewis made the announcement in the Mayflower hotel room of Myron C. Taylor, former board chairman of United States Steel corporation, which owns some of the captive mines. Taylor was standing beside the mine workers' president when it was made and said he was "very much gratified with the broad cooperative attitude which Mr. Lewis had displayed in a difficult situation in time of great national peril."

Lewis and Taylor called in reporters after the mine workers' leader had conferred for two hours with district leaders of the UMW.

In his announcement of the agreement to return to work Lewis said that the union leaders had accepted the president's proposal "on my recommendation."

Mr. Roosevelt proposed in a letter to William H. Davis, chairman of the defense mediation board, that the mines be reopened pending further consideration of the issues involved in the dispute, which affects 53,000 miners, by the full membership of the mediation board. Under the president's suggestion, neither side would be committed to accept the board's recommendation.

Lewis summoned ten district presidents to meet with him in his office at UMW headquarters, not far from the White House. The men, hastily called together after Mr. Roosevelt made the proposal—his fourth in a series of efforts to keep a steady flow of fuel to steel mills—came from as far west as Springfield, Ill., and as far south as Birmingham, Ala.

Lewis began conferring with the leaders early in the forenoon and admitted them to his office as they arrived.

Those summoned were:

James Mark, Clearfield, Pa.; William Hynes, Uniontown, Pa.; John O'Leary, Pittsburgh; P. T. Fagan, Pittsburgh; John Owens, Columbus, O.; Ray Edmundson, Springfield, Ill.; Van A. Bittner, Charleston, W. Va.; William Turnblazer, Jellico, Tenn.; William Mitch, Birmingham, Ala., and C. F. Davis, Fairmont, W. Va.

The question was to accept or reject Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation that the mines be reopened at once on the understanding that the defense mediation board proceed immediately in full session to reconsider the entire dispute and propose a final settlement.

At Pittsburgh the steel industry was hopeful that the pits would reopen within 24 hours, and one company official said the mines "might" resume tonight if an agreement was reached. However, four blast furnaces were closed down as a result of the four-day-old strike which has kept 53,000 miners idle. And a further

Reds Hurl Nazis Back on Moscow Front

Seize Vital Defense Heights Near Rostov

Slowed In Land Offensive, Germans Use 300 Planes to Attack Capital, Push Deeper Into Crimea.

(By Associated Press)

Russia's armies were credited in front-line dispatches today with throwing the German's back across the Nara river, some 50 miles southwest of Moscow, while on the southern front, Soviet troops were declared to have won strategic heights guarding the route to Rostov-on-Don.

Tass, the official Russian news agency, said the Germans tried repeatedly to cross the Nara but were beaten back.

Counter-attacking Soviet troops then stormed across the river, Tass said, and entrenched themselves on the south bank under heavy fire.

Slowed down in their land offensive against Moscow, the Germans sent more than 300 planes in a mass assault on the U. S. S. R. capital yesterday, the Soviet radio said.

"It was the biggest attack carried out so far but was exactly as unsuccessful as all previous raids," the radio declared, adding that 39 Nazi planes, a record, were shot down.

Big-scale aerial attacks on Moscow have been under way for several days, it was reported.

Adolf Hitler's high command, silent on operations around Moscow, asserted that German troops were now swarming into the upper Donets river industrial basin on a broad front.

On the lower reaches of the Donets, however, the Russians claimed they had stopped the Nazi onslaught, that picked detachments of Hitler's elite guards massed around Rostov "have been marking time for several days," and that German tanks were being used as stationary fortresses in an attempt to hold gains.

While the Germans advanced in the north, in the Kharkov sector, it was apparent that Soviet Marshal Semeon Timoshenko was making a supreme stand to defend Rostov and thus prevent the Nazi armies from turning the Rostov "corner" southward into the Caucasus.

In the Crimea, where the in-

Just Before Lewis Gave In to Roosevelt

Shortly before he agreed to re-opening of captive coal mines, in response to President Roosevelt's fourth appeal, John L. Lewis, boss of the United Mine Workers, conferred with Myron Taylor, chairman of the board of United States Steel corporation, which owns most of the mines involved in the dispute. They are shown here as they conferred.

PHANTOM UNITS SNATCH NAZIS

Sentries Disappear From Posts on Nazi-Held Coast of France.

LONDON — A Free French spokesman reported today that mysterious "Black Phantom" raiding units are snatching German sentries from their posts on the Nazi-occupied French coast almost every night and creating among the Germans a "horrible fear" of an Allied invasion.

Friday, Saturday Are Value Days In Stores Here

Thousands of shoppers from Mansfield and all parts of north central Ohio, counting the 48 shopping days left until Christmas, will throng into Mansfield tomorrow and Saturday to take advantage of October Value Days, month-end merchandising event.

Sponsored by the Mansfield Retail Merchants association, the special value sales will offer buys for shoppers seeking the benefits of current prices and the obvious advantage of buying now for future use.

More than 50 Mansfield retail establishments promote periodical activities or events to attract shoppers from throughout the north central Ohio section considered as Mansfield's trade area.

Buyers this week-end will find many attractive offerings resulting from the necessity faced by many merchants to dispose of seasonable apparel and merchandise to make way for holiday stocks.

Regular store hours will prevail during the October Value Days sale. On Friday, the stores will operate from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

DEMS PAN LOCKE ON 'SUCCESSES'

Hit 'Glittering Generalities' and Charge Mayor Takes Undeserving Credit.

Holding their final general political rally of the 1941 campaign, Democrats last night lashed out at Republican Mayor William J. Locke's claims of accomplishment as "glittering generalities" and accused him of having no "follow through" in important matters.

Addressing about 150 Democrats attending the meeting in party headquarters in the Martin Hardware building, Fred M. Bushnell, Democratic mayoralty nominee, Marshall C. Moore, campaign chairman, and Howard Miller, candidate for re-election as president of city council, called attention to the need for several civic improvements and stated that Mayor Locke had been taking credit for "work done by council and other agencies outside the administration."

Republicans will hold one of their major rallies of the campaign tonight in the North Lake

Kearny Torpedoing Proves U. S. Destroyers 'Sturdiest'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Failure of a German submarine to sink the U. S. destroyer Kearny — torpedoed and damaged with a loss of 11 lives southwest of Iceland—convinced naval experts today that the United States' newest destroyers are the sturdiest in the world.

That was the appraisal in informed quarters of a report describing the incident and damage to the $7,500,000 speedy destroyer. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox issued the report late yesterday.

Naval experts said there was no other recorded instance in which a thinly-armored destroyer was struck squarely by a torpedo and survived. The fact that the Kearny, escorted by other nearby American warships, safely reached port under her own power with her dead and 10 wounded was described as "almost miraculous" and a tribute to American naval designing and engineering.

Knox did not reveal the port to which the Kearny put in, but a picture showed a topography typi-

RAIN FORECAST

Milder Temperatures Due For City, Weatherman Says.

The cold that nipped at unprotected hands and ears yesterday and last night will give way to rain and mild temperatures tonight, according to the weatherman.

Occasional rain and mild weather will continue through Friday with a drop in temperature due Friday night, he said.

From a season's low of 26 degrees yesterday morning, the mercury rose to 49 yesterday and then dropped to 38 this morning. The 24-hour average was 43.5, about three degrees below normal.

Warmer weather was general today over most of the northern half of the nation, but at Winnipeg, Manitoba, a reading of one above zero was recorded. Columbus reported the highest morning reading in Ohio, 49 degrees.

14 KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Pilot, Only Survivor, Thrown From Craft as It Strikes Earth, Catches Fire.

(By Associated Press)

MOORHEAD, Minn. — Trapped in fog and mist, a Northwest Airlines plane crashed within two miles of its objective early today. Fourteen persons died in the impact and flames that immediately engulfed the wreckage.

The only survivor was Captain Clarence Bates, pilot, thrown clear as the big liner struck the earth a glancing blow, bounced 100 yards and then piled up.

Captain Bates suffered only from shock but physicians would permit no one to talk to him.

The St. Paul dispatcher said he last heard from the plane, westbound from Chicago to Seattle, at 1:54 a. m. (CST). It then was over the Fargo airport, descending at 2700 feet.

WARNS U. S.

Fascists Assert Axis Now In State of War With U. S.

ROME—(U.P.)—Roberto Farinacci, former secretary general of the Fascist party, wrote today in his newspaper, the Regime Fascista, that the Axis now is in a state of war with the United States.

Commenting on President Roosevelt's Navy day address Farinacci wrote:

"Roosevelt's speech contained implicity a declaration of war which surprises no one since Germany and Italy already consider themselves in a state of war with the United States.

"When Roosevelt sends United States ships into a zone controlled by the Axis he will find out what his bluff will cost the United States."

BACK AT WORK

Deliverymen Return To Jobs After Commission House Meet Demands.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—Toledo commission houses today resumed deliveries of fresh fruit and vegetables after a three-day tie-up caused by the walkout of 60 members of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs union (AFL).

The Toledo Produce association complied with demands for a closed shop, checkoff system and 15-cents-an-hour pay increase.

LIMIT TRAVEL

Nazis Restrict Railroad Traffic To Persons 'On Urgent Business.'

BERLIN—(INS)—Effective tomorrow, passenger traffic on German railway lines will be restricted to persons "on urgent business," it was announced today.

This step is being taken, it was said, to concentrate all railway facilities on safeguarding nourishment of the German people and ensure uninterrupted transportation of potatoes, turnips, and coal.

CITY ELECTION INTEREST LIGHT

State Predicts Small Vote, Expect City To Poll Half of Total Registration.

With Richland county board of election officials predicting the lightest municipal vote on record in Mansfield next Tuesday and a peak vote of 2,000,000 forcast in the state, election officials expressed concern today because Ohioans apparently are forgetting their enthusiasm for the democratic way of life in showing little enthusiasm in the city, village, and township campaigns.

Election officials here said they expected only half of the 20,000 registered voters in Mansfield to go to the polls, while an equally light vote was forecast for other county communities. If only 50 per cent of the Mansfield electors go to the polls, it will be the lightest vote ever cast here in a municipal election.

George M. Neffner, election statistician in the office of the secretary of state, asserted that "There are some communities with no candidates for school boards. I can't understand lack of interest in anything so vital as the school system.

"Apparently people are just absorbed in national issues this year," he added. "Yet local officials are the ones they deal with every day."

There will be no state-wide issue on the ballot this fall and no county-wide issue in Richland county. Mansfield voters will decide the fate of a proposed half-mill levy for additional fire equipment. Villages and school districts in scattered sections of the county will vote on operating levies and bond issues. Only six of the 88 counties in Ohio have county-wide bond issues.

In addition to the election of Mansfield city officials and a vote on the half-mill levy, Mansfielders will ballot on school board and Madison township trustee candidates.

WEIGH HORSES

U. S. To Experiment With Cavalry Units In Coming Maneuvers.

CAMP FORREST, Tenn.—(AP)—The 1100 men of Ohio's 107th cavalry traveled to Fort Oglethorpe, Pa., today to re-organize for first army maneuvers in South Carolina next month.

Horsemen will join those of the 6th cavalry while the mechanized forces of the two regiments will unite for an experiment to determine whether cavalry units should be mechanized completely, use horses exclusively or retain the present proportion of half horses and half motors.

FACE CHARGES

FREMONT—(U.P.)—Several high school athletes were summoned today to appear before Mayor A. L. Wrigley as the result of unprecedented Halloween vandalism.

The vandalism led to the posting of three cash awards for information leading to apprehension of the guilty persons. Several business and residential properties were damaged.

Caution!

Readers are reminded that dispatches from the belligerent nations of Europe and from the Far East are subject to censorship at the source.

Take Double Precautions to Halt Halloween Vandalism

Mansfield and Richland county authorities made plans today to double precautions against "acts of vandalism" tonight or tomorrow night from too enthusiastic Halloween celebrators.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said that the most serious reports received in the past 24 hours concerned the placing of corn shocks on county roads near Lucas. Deputies patrolled the area but did not make any arrests.

Police Chief Bates state that Halloweeners in the city had not caused "too much" trouble in the past few nights, but asserted that cruisers would be keeping a sharp lookout for acts of vandalism. Extra patrolmen will also be detailed for duty tonight and tomorrow night, Bates said.

Both city and county police heads said that although "a reasonable amount of Halloween fun will be allowed," any pranks involving property damage would result in punishment.

Bates reminded parents that they would be held responsible for any damage caused by children.

Passage of Fire Levy Means City-Wide Saving of $50,000

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles explaining Mansfield's fire protection problems and showing what the passage of the proposed half mill tax levy would do to solve them.)

When Mansfield voters go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on the passage of a half mill tax levy to modernize the city's antiquated fire department, they will also be given the opportunity to help in freeing themselves of a $50,000 penalty paid annually in additional fire insurance premiums.

Other persons, who do not maintain fire insurance and are thereby even more dependent upon the city fire department to save their homes and business places in which they work, have even higher premiums at stake. To them, loss of their homes would be disastrous.

Modernization of the city's fire apparatus would raise the standards of fire protection in every section of the city. Although the present stations have been located to provide protection for the entire city, slowness of the antiquat-

STEELS, RAILS SHOW WAY IN MILD RALLIES

Hope For Mine Strike End Stimulates Bidding In Steel Issues.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and rails displayed mild rallying tendencies in today's stock market but many leaders remained in the apathetic division.

Early support was given U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, StandardOil (N. J.) and North American.

A trifle backward were American Telephone, Woolworth, Boeing, Chrysler and Phelps Dodge.

Hope for quick settlement of the captive coal mine strike seemed to bring in some bidding for steels. Earning statements helped individual stocks.

Trend analysts studied the compilation of Dun & Bradstreet which disclosed that bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended yesterday continued to top 1940 but were 13 per cent below the 12-year peak registered the week before.

Scant market cheer was found in the survey of the Engineeoring News-Record which estimated this week's heavy construction awards, while 46 per cent higher than the preceding week, were 35 per cent under the like period a year ago.

VOTE FOR THE TAX LEVY

As real estate brokers we are opposed to any increase in taxation. Occasionally, some proposed legislation has so much merit that our opposition is changed into support. After investigation and careful consideration we believe that the safety of the lives and property of our citizens requires much replacement and addition to the present fire fighting equipment. The money to be provided under this levy is "earmarked" and can be used only for this purpose. Therefore, we urge every taxpayer to VOTE FOR THE LEVY.

DEM SPEAKERS LASH AT LOCKE ON 'SUCCESSES'

Hit 'Glittering Generalities' and Charge Mayor Takes Undeserving Credit.

park pavilion where Mayor William J. Locke and other party candidates for municipal offices will speak. Sponsored by the G. O. P. women's organization, the meeting will open with a covered dish dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Last night's Democratic rally was the party's last city-wide meeting of the campaign, but there will be other meetings for precinct workers at headquarters in the Martin Hardware building, Campaign Manager Moore said.

The Republicans will wind up the campaign Monday night with a party for candidates at Radio City hall. The Richland County Young Republican club will be in charge of the party which will include a dance, floor show, and a free lunch.

Both Bushnell and Moore cited the need for free parking sites near the downtown business section.

"We should without delay," said Bushnell, "seek to acquire by purchase or rental, several sites as free public parking spaces. They are needed and when obtained and put into use, will do much to eliminate congestion of parking on the streets not metered. It might not be amiss to 'earmark' a part of the meter receipts for use in purchase or rental of free parking sites."

Bushnell put forward a plan for scheduled collection of refuse and ashes. "Many of us find our receptacles for these items overflowing during the periods between the altogether too infrequent collections."

The mayoralty candidate commended the garbage collection service but suggested that the service be broadened to include ashes and other refuse.

Howard Miller called attention to the Republican demands for election of a Republican council "for the sake of harmony." After leading his audience through the long procedure necessary to get legislation passed by council, Miller said that 239 pieces of legislation were passed by council last year and 216 had already been passed in 1941.

"Does this vast volume of work which includes the betterment of your city's sewer, street and water system as well as other facilities, indicate that council has not been in harmony?" asked Miller.

Miller said that Mayor Locke could not claim credit for the many street and sewer improvements. "The people and not the executive have taken the initiative in asking for legislation," said Miller, "and council has made their suggestions workable."

After announcing that he expected the Democrats would have a "glowing triumph," Moore examined Mayor Locke's Tuesday night speech.

"I can't help remarking after noticing the mayor's speech," said Moore, "but that all seven 'points' on his so-called platform are only "glittering generalities or platitudes."

Mansfield expects all of its mayors to treat the citizens courteously, to meet questions squarely, to run the city along business lines, and to co-operate with civic groups and other public officials," Moore stated.

Examining the 'platform', I find that there are really only two points worth considering," he continued. "Mayor Locke's statements that he would re-organize the engineering department and make an honest effort to solve the traffic problem. I have not observed or heard of any change in the organization of the engineering department. I served as a member on the Citizen's Committee for Traffic Improvement. Although many things have been done, it seems that they have been brought about not by the mayor but by the citizen's committee and the traffic committee of city council.

Commenting on Mayor Locke's plan to take a "long range" view of the city's problems, Moore said that he wondered if that "wasn't an excuse for not doing much in a short period."

Still analyzing Tuesday night's Republican meeting, Moore said that despite Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton's remarks that he and Locke had been working "heart and soul" for the city, "I don't know what Mr. Crafton means but it seems to me that better public thinking could be done in the mayor and service director's office than on a golf course or vacation trip or in front of a pharmacy."

Moore said that Locke had announced in November, 1940, that he was going to push the citizen's committe suggestion for free parking lots "but that he had failed to follow through."

"After announcing he would ask council to approve two sites for parking purposes," said Moore, the mayor failed to bring the matter to the attention of council."

During his speech, Bushnell reiterated his plan to repeal the city's sewer service charge and his support of a "fostering" of the park system and recreational facilities for colored residents.

He pointed out that the sewer charge was not assessed against the users of the sewer system but against the users of the water system and declared that in many cases this was not "equitable."

Attorney W. H. McCellan was in charge of the meeting and introduced the Democratic candidates for council and other city posts.

PHANTOM UNITS SNATCH NAZIS

Sentries Disappear From Posts on Nazi-Held Coast of France.

lowed reports by the Moscow radio that British and Canadian soldiers (presumably of the specially trained Commando assault forces) had landed in France recently and made raids in the neighborhood of Amiens.

The raids have forced the Germans to redouble their coastal patrols, the spokesman said, while information received in London "shows that French resistance is increasing" despite the repressive measures taken by the German occupation authorities.

British authorities had no comment on the reported raiding parties and the censorship does not permit reports regarding the Commando units, which aroused great interest in connection with public demands for a British invasion of western Europe in order to aid the Russians by opening a second front.

The French spokesman, however, discussed the reported raids and said the Royal Air Force bombings of Occupied France had practically wiped out the textile industry in the Norde section.

Reports from France, he said, told of mysterious figures that appear almost every night on the beaches to raid German sentry posts or carry out sabotage assignments. Many sentries have disappeared and the occupation troops, which are mostly German veterans of the World war, are feeling an increasing fear of invasion from the British Isles which they had been threatening to invade a year ago.

Although the Germans have transferred many of the original occupation troops to Russia, there are still enough soldiers in France to prevent revolt and probably to prevent invasion, he said, but "nevertheless we are told that the French are getting cocky toward the German authorities as a result of the Russian resistance and the British bombing, which has hurt the morale of te Nazi soldiers."

LEWIS BOWS TO ROOSEVELT IN MINE DISPUTE

Announces Acceptance of FDR Proposal; Says Men Go Back To Work Tonight.

suspension of operations was predicted if coal supplies kept dwindling and the strike continued.

Pending the outcome of today's meeting, congressional agitation for legislative action against strikes subsided somewhat.

While the captive mine controversy remained the No. 1 question, other labor disputes dotted the nation, but in one respect the situation was improved by the apparent lifting of a threatened five-state general strike of CIO workers in eastern aircraft factories.

The captive mine issue is a union shop, which both parties in the dispute define as a system under which all miners must become members of the union after a preliminary period of employment. The captive mines are so-called because they are owned by other companies, mostly steel companies, which use their coal output instead of marketing it.

President Roosevelt advanced his back-to-work proposal late yesterday in a surprise White House conference, which climaxed a day-long series of discussions between Lewis and Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of United States Steel — the corporation which owns a large number of the captive mines.

The decision of striking CIO workers last night to go back to their jobs at the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, Incorporated, apparently lifted the threat of a general aircraft production strike in five eastern states.

A machine gun factory in Plymouth, Mich., operated by the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, was idle as a result of a strike of CIO employees who objected to the company hiring two additional women machine operators at 85 cents an hour. Male employes receive $1 an hour. A union spokesman declared the firm had agreed not to hire any more women operators pending wage negotiations.

At Bay City, Mich., another CIO strike halted production on eight submarine chasers and mine sweepers being built at the Defoe Boat and Motor Works. The union charged the company with failure to observe a wage stabilization agreement, and in addition demanded a contract clause requiring union members to remain in good union standing as a condition of employment.

JURIST STRICKEN

Former Judge Who Presided at Horst Trial Succumbs.

WOOSTER —(AP)— George A. Starn, the judge who heard trials arising from the still-unsolved 1928 kidnaping of Melvin Horst at Orrville, O., died unexpectedly last night.

Starn, 67, was a Wayne county common pleas judge from 1921 to 1933, and since then has been engaged in private law practice. Starn was prosecuting attorney before becoming judge here. He was the father of Donald Starn, Kent State university athletic director.

Passage of Fire Levy Means City-Wide Saving of $50,000

ed equipment has prevented firemen from reaching every point with adequate speed. New apparatus, according to firemen, reaches the scene of any fire in the city within the "vital first five minutes."

Mansfielders started paying "tribute" to fire about seven years ago and since then have paid $135,000 more than they would have under former standards.

Holding that the city's fire equipment now in use was undependable and that the city's water system did not provide adequate volume and pressure to fight a major fire, the National Board of Fire Underwriters dropped Mansfield into the sixth class in premium rating.

It has been conservatively estimated that the setback in classification amounts to $50,000 annually in additional fire insurance costs on downtown buildings alone.

The underwriters first warned the city of the inadequate condition of its fire department and water system as long ago as 1926. In 1929, the warning was repeated. Finally in 1934, because nothing had been done to remedy the situation, the board increased insurance rates.

In the past few years, the city has built up its water supply distribution to such a point that 85 pounds of pressure, more than is needed for fighting major fires, is assured for every section of the city.

Although the water distribution system has been improved to a point where it should meet the requirements of the fire underwriters' board, little reduction in insurance rates is expected until major improvements are made in the fire department.

Previous to the extension of waterlines to the northeastern part of the city and the installation of two pressure-regulating valves to maintain pressure in the low line, firemen did not receive enough water to fight fires.

At present, however, the water is supplied but the firemen lack the equipment needed to utilize the water. Four of the five pumpers are maintained with spare parts picked up from junkyards and have been subject to breakdowns on several occasions. Firemen doubt that weakened hose lines could carry water with much pressure.

In addition to the losses from increased premiums. Mansfielders suffer fire losses much greater than they would be with a modern fire department.

If the half-mill levy is approved at Tuesday's election, the city will be able to bring its fire department up to a point where a reduction in fire insurance rates can be considered.

Several insurance agents in Mansfield believe that an improved department, considered along with the extension of the city's water lines, should raise Mansfield to the third class or at least the fourth class rating in the underwriters' ratings.

Inspectors for the underwriters point particularly to the age of the pumpers in use by the fire department. Of the six trucks now in service, two are 18 years of age, two are 22 years old, one is 12 years old and the last three.

In addition to apparatus, revenue from a levy would be used to purchase new hose and to improve the fire signal system. Protection for the western end of the city would be provided by the construction of a new station in that district.

To pass the half-mill levy, 65 per cent of all Mansfield residents voting next Tuesday will have to favor the modernization program.

Tomorrow — What would the levy revenue do to modernize the fire department?

KEARNY PROVES SHIP STRENGTH

Naval Experts Say Torpedoing Indicates U. S. Destroyers Sturdiest In World.

cal of Iceland. Belief that it put in at Iceland was strengthened by authoritative reports from the navy that the destroyer, despite the severe damage, was able to navigate 400 miles—the approximate distance from the scene of the attack to Iceland.

Knox's report said the Kearny, one of the so-called "top-heavy" class because of its speed and radical design, was escorting a convoy of merchantmen on the night of Oct. 16-17 when it received distress calls from another group of cargo ships being attacked by German submarines. Speeding to their aid, the Kearny sighted a merchantman, according to Knox, under attack by a German submarine. The Kerney, he said, then dropped depth bombs.

"Some time afterward three torpedo tracks were observed approaching the U. S. S. Kearny," Knox continued. "One passed ahead of the ship, one astern, and the third struck the U. S. S. Kearny on the starboard side in the vicinity of the forward fireroom."

The force of the explosion killed the men in the boiler room, which was flooded, and the men stationed on deck above it. The blast, according to the report, ripped out the deck, deckhouse, and bridge above the room. In addition, it flooded a compartment ahead of the boiler room.

However, the report, prepared by Rear Admiral Samuel M Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, said the destroyer was able to use her own power to get into port.

DEATH CAR?

PITTSBURGH — (INS)— A machine-gun riddled 1941 model coupe, with fresh blood stains on the driver's seat and steering wheel, was found abandoned on Pittsburgh's northside today by a police radio scout car. Police counted 10 bullet holes in the door on the driver's side of the car, hood and windshield.

The car bore a Michigan dealer's license.

NAZIS HURLED BACK BY REDS

Forced To Retreat on Moscow Front; Russians Capture Rostov Heights.

vaders forced a break-through after 10 days of violent assault, the Nazi high command said Russian rearguard resistance had been shattered and that German forces were "relentlessly on the heels of the defeated enemy."

Several thousand more Soviet prisoners were taken, the high command said, as Nazi troops pushed on across age-old Crimean battlefields toward Russia's big Black sea naval base at Sevastopol, 100 miles south.

A bulletin from Hitler's east front headquarters gave no specific details of the advance into the upper Donets basin, where the Germans had already captured Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine."

Soviet dispatches, conceding the fall of Kharkov, declared that in taking the city the Germans had lost nearly 120,000 killed and wounded, 450 tanks, 3,000 trucks and 200 guns.

Around the key Don river port of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, the Russians said they were stubbornly resisting all Nazi attempts at a break-through.

"Our units are gradually strengthening and improving their positions," The Moscow radio said, referring to the Rostov front.

In the Stalino sector, 100 miles north of Rostov, Germany's Italian allies, acknowledged they had been halted by Russian counter-attacks and added that they had not been given "a moment's peace and rest in eight days"—as reported by Stefani, the official Italian news agency.

On the central front, it seemed clear that the German armies were stalled for the moment if not actually losing ground in the 29-day-old drive on Moscow.

A Red army communique again noted bitter all-night fighting in the familiar sectors of Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest of Moscow; Mozhaisk, 57 miles west, and Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest.

Soviet front-line dispatches said Gen. Gregory H. Zhukov's Moscow defense forces had seized the initative and recaptured half a dozen or more villages in three days of counter-attacking.

Street fighting was reported still raging at Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, with the Russians firmly holding the outskirts after 11 days of close action.

In the British-German air war, German activity over Britain was reported limited last night to a single plane's attack while the British raided Brest, naval base in occupied France, and German air bases in Belgium and The Netherlands.

The Japanese government was reported by Domei, the Japanese news agency, to have taken a step toward placing key industries on a complete war basis by ordering iron, steel and coal concerns to organize control associations.

Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo formally received ambassadors of 11 nations, headed by United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew as dean of the diplomatic corps. It was Togo's first reception since he took over the foreign portfolio in Premier Tojo's cabinet Oct. 18.

PLANE CRASHES, 14 ARE KILLED

Pilot, Only Survivor, Escapes When Plane Plunges To Earth, Catches Fire.

freezing temperature, the pilot next should have reported when he sighted land.

The dispatcher vainly tried to contact the plane at 2:00 a. m. Ten minutes later, police telephoned that a plane had crashed. The scene was two miles from the Fargo airport, or about one mile north of the city limits of Moorhead which adjoins Fargo.

The crackup occurred on a flat prairie. Captain Bates, dazed, was found wandering in a field by motorists attracted by the flames. There apparently were no witnesses to the catastrophe.

Croil Hunter, NWA general manager, left St. Paul with a plane and crew to resume the westward trip started by the ill-fated liner.

One report was that Captain Bates had to be restrained from trying to climb into the burning wreckage to rescue the victims. This information came from Charles Bailey, Columbus, O., and Eveline Berg, Fargo beauty operator, en route home from a suburban night club when they saw the fire.

They said Bates was led back to the scene after being found in a field. Bailey quoted him a mumbling about freeing the occupants but urging the gathering crowd to kep away from the wings because they contained gasoline.

Miss Berg who accompanied Bates to the hospital said he apparently tried to tell what happened en route. Bob Donahue, local advertising man who also rode in the ambulance, said Bates mumbled something about the air speed indicator not working and about controls not responding because of ice.

The special plane bringing NWA officials also brought Civil Aeronautics association representatives. The latter instructed county authorities to remove the bodies and rope off the wreckage.

Meanwhile, Captain Bates had been quieted by sedatives administered in a Fargo hospital. He was to be questioned later.

A tentative passenger list announced by NWA at St. Paul included:

Mrs. J. Packard, Atlantic City, N. J.

F. R. Lowell, Dayton, O.

R. W. Ramsey, 309 Harman, North Canton, O.

W. A. Mitzger, Royal Typewriter Co., New York.

L. C. Carr, 133 South Greeby Road, Highland Park, Ill., employe of NWA Chicago office.

A. F. Simonson, Grand Forks.

C. W. Farup, Grand Forks.

Ned Wells, Fargo.

E. A. King, Fargo.

Mrs. H. Ford, Fargo.

H. H. Brown, Billings.

W. G. Klopp, 508 Rockwood, Spokane, Wash.

The co-pilot was Alden Onsgard and the stewardess was Bernice Blowers, both addresses unavailable.

NAZIS CONSCRIPT DOGS

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Germany is planning to conscript dogs for military service. Advices to the Department of Commerce reveal that dogs of more than 20 inches in height must be registered by their owners. Failure to register dogs will be punished by fine or imprisonment, and the German government will conpensate owners of dogs drafted for military service.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1941.

Maybe it could be worked out so that there would be isolation for isolationists.

"Education week" is to be observed soon—but probably not in time to have any effect on next Tuesday's election.

You'd never think, from all the armament strikes, that there's an "unlimited national emergency" in this country.

Supposing There'd Be a Fire

RESIDENTS of Mansfield have many reasons to feel proud of their city—but their fire department isn't one of them.

Talk about Mansfield's excellent schools, beautiful churches, fine parks, attractive homes, busy factories, progressive stores, active Chamber of Commerce, well-supported community chest—and dozens of other things that you will think of—but lay off on saying anything about the fire department (except possibly to remark that our firemen would do a good job if they had anything with which to do it.)

Maybe, as with some other things, you have taken fire protection for granted. Possibly you think that fires always happen to other people and can't happen to you.

But YOU are not exempt, nor immune. Next time there is a fire it may be at YOUR home, or the place where you are employed—and it's risky business, not knowing whether the fire department will be able to get there in time to prevent greater loss than there would have been if arrival had been a few minutes sooner.

Next Tuesday you will have opportunity to say, by a YES vote on the one-half mill tax levy proposal, that you want your lives, homes and jobs made safer by betterment of Mansfield's fire-fighting facilities.

Let's add Mansfield's fire department to the list of things of which we can feel proud—but to help you must VOTE!

Ruling By Force and Terror

THE SO-CALLED "have-not nations" claim a divine right to take what they want from whoever has it. On the same principle any private citizen would have a right to grab his neighbor's house or farm and shoot the neighbor and his family if they objected.

Obviously civilization can't proceed on such a basis. For there is no end to it. If A has a right to grab B's property, then B has a right to grab C's, and you have everybody grabbing from everybody else, which would take us back to barbarism and chaos.

Such things were done in former ages, as late as the last century, often without causing great disturbances through the earth. But that time is past. The age of machinery and communication has made the world a small place, and has woven together the lives of individuals, nations and continents until nearly everything that is done affects nearly everybody.

Americans see these things more clearly now than at the end of the last war. Aggressor nations refuse to see them, or admit them, and choose a life of crime. Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy and Japan today are deliberately blowing up civilization, to build on the wreckage a world dominated by force and terror, instead of the kindly, fruitful world that was expected by the people of this country.

Advises Left-Turn Restriction

MOVEMENT toward further progress in Mansfield's effort to relieve traffic congestion on downtown streets is seen in the recommendation by Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals that left turns be banned at the Third and Fourth street intersections with Main.

Mansfield is one of the few cities in its population bracket in which left turns have been permitted at all intersections, and many smaller cities have at least one principal intersection at which left turns are barred.

If, as Commissioner Boals states, on the basis of a careful check-up, a majority of Main street traffic is delayed, with resultant congestion, for the convenience of a few motorists, it seems quite reasonable that the proposed change should be authorized by council.

Stunts That Appear Dangerous

THOSE who read Elsie Robinson's "Listen World" article in Tuesday's News-Journal, captioned "Ersatz Heroics," will recognize that such things as "Human Fly" exhibitions belong in the "show-off" stunts to which reference was made.

The "Human Fly" style of exhibitionism was quite common around the turn of the century, when it was considered something of a novelty, but recent years have developed so many other hazardous stunts that "human flies" have been quite effectively swatted.

The wonder is that use of a public building would be permitted for such an exhibition, which, to be made attractive must appear to be dangerous—and, if dangerous, should not be allowed.

Discovering the English Language

SO MANY things are taken as a matter of course in this country that few people fully appreciate their blessings. There's the blessing of language, for instance—which was laboriously developed through thousands of years and which now makes possible an exchange of thoughts by means of written or spoken words.

A child learns one word, then another, and so on, until a few hundred—or a few thousand—are considered sufficient to meet all needs—leaving other thousands of wonderful words entirely untouched.

But this is not so with Catherine Kaprowski, a janitress and cleaning woman who came to America as a young girl, and was caught immediately in the grind of earning a living, and at last, in middle age, has devoted herself to mastering the English language. She is so earnest about it that, although she could have the teaching free, she is spending hundreds of dollars for private tuition.

"I have never been so happy as I am at school," she says. "How good it is to know these words and speak them correctly! Now I can know for myself what is happening in the world. I cannot tell you how wonderful that is."

Before definitely getting into the war Japan might do well to ask Italy what that country thinks about it.

Mussolini's recent speech at Bologna was probably all of that.

TAKING IT HOME AGAIN

Listen World!

Some Changes Made

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SOMETHING has been happening to American women in the last 25 years, especially to Working Wives.

Goes without saying, American women have always had plenty of what it takes. Charm, wit, good looks, smartness, the ability to see and seize opportunities. And amazing courage. Which, added up, should amount to plenty. And did. Yet there was something wrong. Something lacking. Something which made for suspicion and coldness between the sexes, particularly as time went on and feminine careers skyrocketed.

Nothing strange about that. Women were just beginning to get their industrial stride when World war No. 1 stopped. That war had given them jobs, distinction and power of which they had never dreamed. And they took to them like ducks to water. Why not? Hadn't they been doing detail and executive work for centuries.

Now all their disregarded talents found expression. And what a rumpus it made! Husbands, brothers and sweethearts came back from the front to find wives, sweethearts and sisters sitting in the jobs they'd once held . . . and refusing to give them up!

Unhappy, chaotic days, those were, back in the '20's. With both men and women discovering this new and tremendous feminine power and efficiency. Dicovering and, I'm afraid, flaunting it! Yes, I'm afraid we will have to admit, sisters, WE DIDN'T MAKE THINGS ANY EASIER FOR THE BOYS!

And there was more than a bit of Revenge in our independence. We'd had to take the back seat for so long, ourselves . . . had to swallow so much masculine complacency and dominance . . . seeing men take it for granted that we were the stupid, helpless Sex. We'd have been supernatural if we didn't try to rub it in now and then.

As for the men, it was a bitter pill to swallow. How does a jobless man feel, having to watch his wife support the home where he was once Mr. Big. How does it feel to know that the other fellows are laughing behind your back . . . kidding you about tending the baby and burning the roast?

But hadn't women gone through all these things before? Why was it any worse for a man to do domestic chores than for a woman? Yet somehow it was. But the women wouldn't see it . . . didn't want to see it. So there were hours of sullen sulks . . . bitter resentment and self-pity . . . barriers of ice which would have melted with a kiss or a word of praise. But the kiss didn't come . . . nor the praise. And the ice deepened.

That was in the 20's. Then came the 30's, with Depression and Tough Breaks for everyone—wife and husband alike. Then something happened. Maybe it was the sharing that did it . . . sharing the hurt as well as the happiness. Seeing all the dreams break . . . all the pride fall in the mud. Whatever the reason—SOMETHING HAPPENED TO WOMEN, BACK THERE IN THE TURBULENT THIRTIES.

Know that gay little tune that's been making the rounds, "There'll be some changes made"? That song fits this talk, for there certainly have been changes made, lovely, happy changes. Women who'd grown hard with success . . . cold with their own efficiency . . . melted . . . grew warm . . . learned to say, "I NEED YOU, DEAR." And men who'd grown hurt and warped and angry, stretched out their arms and took them home!

Yes, they've always been gritty and glamorous, these brilliant, efficient American women. But now perhaps they've learned how failures can hurt and shame. They've learned to be something else too . . . something greater than GRIT or GLAMOUR—THEY'VE LEARNED TO BE GALLANT AS WELL.

Timely Editorial

Unsavory Case.

The unfolding testimony of motion picture industry executives at the trial in New York of George Earle Brown and "Willie" Bioff, racketeering union leaders charged with extortion, makes unpleasant reading. It is a sordid story of greed and high-handed arrogance on the part of the accused men and one of cowardice and willingness to take the line of least resistance on the part of the Hollywood big shots.

The unsavory character of one of the extortioners was a matter of police record. Bioff was convicted of pandering, a revolting offense against public morals, and was haled back to Chicago after a lapse of years to complete a jail sentence.

It is gratifying that the illegal acts of these men, who used their positions for personal gain, are being so thoroughly aired that they are unlikely ever to figure again in labor leadership and that their exposure will make similar outrages more difficult for others so-minded to put across.—Columbus Dispatch.

Action Proposed.

Editor News-Journal:

The horror which our entire country feels at the execution of hostages by the Nazis was well voiced by our president. This practice, said our president, "revolts a world already inured to suffering and brutality. . . ." Hitler's collaborators and appeasers cannot longer ignore this ghastly warning and expect to be looked upon as loyal Americans by their fellow citizens and neighbors.

But is it not incongruous that while our country, through our president, speaks our indignation, the diplomatic representatives of the executioner and his Vichy agents should still be permitted to remain within our borders? Will not our expression of anger be many times more effective if followed up by the breaking off of relations with Hitler and all of his puppets?

Is not the presence of Hitler's agents here both an insult to the brave French people and a blot upon our American national honor? Is it not high time for our government to tell these people to pack up, skee-daddle for home and report to their blood-soaked masters that there is no room in America for them or their kind?

Indictment of Fish's Secretary May Explode Franking Scandal

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—If John L. Lewis does not call off the shutdown of the "captive" coal mines, they will be taken over and operated by the government.

The president made this decision an hour after he received Lewis' letter Monday afternoon, which ducked Roosevelt's demand that the mines be reopened at once and raised instead a bogey issue over J. P. Morgan.

If Lewis persists in his defiance of the government, the next move will be a crackdown; for the president differentiates between Lewis and the miners, is convinced they will go back to work if he goes over Lewis's head and appeals directly to them.

The only issue involved in the deadlock is Lewis's demand for a closed shop. That's the sole cause of the shutdown of these urgently essential coal sources.

* * * * *

WASHINGTON—The real inside regarding the indictment of George Hill, secretary to Congressman Ham Fish, makes the grand jury's action much more important than appears on the surface. It may turn out to be the springboard for cleaning up a situation inside congress whereby a small group has prostituted the use of the congressional franking privilege and played into the hands of the Nazis—perhaps without knowing it.

Worst of all, this group has besmirched the name of congress and lessened public confidence in one of our great institutions at a time when we need to preserve one of the few legislative bodies left in the world.

George Hill, Ham Fish's secretary, was indicted for perjury. This, in itself, was significant, because witness after witness has appeared before the grand jury (which is investigating Nazi propaganda) and lied. The grand jury finally decided on action.

Ham Fish's secretary admitted receiving $12,000 during the last five months, in addition to his government salary of $2,000. But he would not tell where the $12,000 came from.

However, the records of the government printing office can be examined by any newspaperman, and they reveal that George Hill ordered hundreds of thousands of franked speeches and paid for them in cash. These payments totalled around $12,000.

In other words, Hill received the $12,000 from someone, used it to buy reprints of speeches from the Congressional Record. It happened that these speeches all tended to help the Nazi and isolationist causes. They were mailed all over the country—at the taxpayers' expense.

Although Hill refused to say where he got the $12,000, the government printing office records show where he spent it. It has been charged that about one ton of mail bearing Congressman Ham Fish's frank was rescued by Hill from the Make Europe Pay War Debts Committee.

Since the justice department charged the Make Europe Pay War Debts Committee with being financed by Nazi agents, it would seem that Congressman Fish's office—knowingly or unknowingly—was playing into the hands of Nazi agents.

Tragedy is that instead of wanting to clean up this mess and show who is guilty and not guilty, many congressmen are crying "Hush! Hush!" and pleading with the attorney general to call off the dogs. They don't seem to realize that one or two bad apples can spoil a whole barrel, and that the reputation of congress is at stake.

Note: In Germany it was not until the German people had lost confidence in the reichstag that they got a dictator.

Pique and Politics.

ONE trouble with congress today is that too many people are voting according to personal pique and prejudice. The question of whether Roosevelt opposed them on this or that, or whether he gave them the patronage they requested, sometimes counts more than important national issues.

About the time the extension of the draft act came up, for instance, isolationist friends of Congressman Martin Dies urged him to vote against the administration and veto a longer period of service for draftees.

"Why should I do that?" asked Dies.

"Well, Roosevelt opposed you, didn't he?" was the reply. "He ran Lyndon Johnson against you in the Texas primaries, didn't he?"

"Yes," replied Dies, "but this isn't an issue between me and Roosevelt. This is an issue involving the country. It's a question of whether we have an army or half an army. It's not a matter of personalities."

So Dies voted with Roosevelt to extend the term of service. The president won by a margin of only one vote. If the congressman from Texas had voted on personal pique, the army today might be different.

Inflation Cure.

HERE is the inside lowdown on Price Administrator Leon Henderson's own private preventive against inflation.

He disclosed it to a group of Charleston, W. Va., business men during a speech on the dangers of run-away prices. One of the audience asked Henderson how a business man could best protect himself against inflation.

"Work like hell," was the prompt reply, "and go to church regularly."

Roosevelt Hater.

FORMER Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, one of the big-game isolationist witnesses against the ship-arming bill during the senate hearings, entered a foreign relations committee room like a lion but departed like a lamb.

Administrationites gave Reed, Pittsburgh chairman of the America First committee, a working over he won't forget for a long time.

The fireworks started when he belligerently declared that certain members of the foreign relations committee "favor this country going to war."

"To what senators do you refer?" promptly demanded Chairman Tom Connally.

"Everybody knows who they are," retorted ex-Senator Reed.

"Name them," snapped Connally. Reed coughed, squirmed in his chair, finally blurted: "Well—er—Senator Pepper, for one."

He had barely got the words out when Pepper jumped him, demanding that Reed cite one instance in which he had urged U. S. entry into the war. Reed had to admit he couldn't.

"If you had listened to my recent radio debate with John Cudahy," Pepper said icily, "you could have learned my position on war. I hate war and want to keep the United States out of war. That's why I favor repeal of the Neutrality Act. It is inimical to the Defense of the United States."

With this rebuke off his chest, Pepper subsided, but Reed's pummelling wasn't over. Senator James Murray of Montana, a two-fisted supporter of Roosevelt's domestic and foreign policies, swung into the fray with, "I'd like to ask the witness to name one instance in which he has supported the president on any issue, domestic or foreign."

Reed again defaulted. "I didn't think you could answer that one," said Murray. "You've been against the president on everything and it is only natural for you to oppose him on this issue. You're just a Roosevelt hater, regardless of what he stands for."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Some people live almost entirely by rumor and half-truths. They never learn that most of the mirrors they gaze into are trick mirrors. They hear something, manufacture a few trimmings of their own to go with it, and pass it along as gospel truth. That's how distortions get bruited about.

I have in mind a couple of remarks I heard after a broadcast the other night. They weren't very important at first hearing. But on second thought, they were important. Because they weren't quite true.

After this broadcast I heard a guy ask, "What's Kay Kyser gonna do, now that Ginny Simms has walked out on him?" A few moments later he said, "I hear he's gonna remake all the old Harold Lloyd pictures, that he's gonna adopt Lloyd's mannerisms."

Actually, Ginny Simms didn't "walk out" on anybody. Actually, Kay Kyser isn't going to "ape" anybody's mannerisms.

WHEN Ginny Simms signed a film contract not long ago and launched a career of her own, nobody was happier about it than Kay. It was something they had both worked for. There never has been a time that he didn't push her forward and give her every break. He kept her in the spotlight. He took her from the obscurity of a college campus and put her where her talents would thrive best, and the result was inevitable.

Then he went out and hired two new girls—vivid contrasts. He wasn't trying to "replace" Ginny; he had too much savvy for that. He got different types—one is half-Spanish and dark. Her name is Dorothy Dunn. The other is a sort of blond campus hoyden, not too tall, collegiate, cute. Her name is Trudy Irwin.

This isn't Trudy's first job. She used to sing with the Kraft Music Hall Maids for John Scott Trotter. Trotter gave her his blessings when Kay said he could make a place for her in his organization. It was as simple as that.

AS FOR the Harold Lloyd angle—Lloyd isn't an actor any more. He's a producer and director. He is going to Direct Kay in his next picture. Into this film Lloyd undoubtedly will write a few situations that seem to fit the Old Professor's peculiar talents for comedy. But they will be for Kay and inspired by him. If Lloyd wanted to write something for Harold Lloyd, he would appear in the picture himself.

After this film, Kyser returns to the direction of Dave Butler, who has handled his three previous films.

And that's all there is to it. Where is this information from? Straight from the horse's mouth.

A Farmer's Diary

An Old Man's Tools

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

BACK in the hill country northeast of our home, I came to a secluded farm, high on a hillside. Above where I stood the hill was forested, below it stretched away to a brook, where shining ripples reflected the evening sun between the stems of late blooming asters.

A good sized barn, painted red many years ago, stood in the trough of the valley. A rambling, weatherbeaten house was farther east. The drive came in from the opposite direction.

As I stood there, admiring the seclusion of this farm, a sorrel horse hitched to a plow came up around the bank. An old man followed, holding a handle with one hand and a single line with the other. I noticed a tool shed at the farther side, and he was directing his horse toward it by yelling gee and haw. He limped as he walked, and his broad wrinkled hands shook constantly.

He unhitched at the shed, turned the old horse around, and then lifted the handles high and pushed the plow ahead on the small front wheel. Here his tools all were stored...a cultivator, an aged drill, a mower, a one-horse rake. On two small drums near the rafters, connected with ropes beneath the bottom, he raised and lowered his wagon bed.

He looked up somewhat startled, as I came up. "Did you come up the drive?" he asked.

"No!" I said. "I walked eastward across that hill."

"Walked" his grizzled face showed mirth, and his blue eyes twinkled. "Not many folks do that any more. But that's the very way Mandy and me took when we was just married and came down here. That was 60 years ago, come next month. There wasn't any drive over yonder then. Only 20 acres was cleared, but we made a good livin'—only never spent much money. Mandy and I planted all these old apples trees you see around. Seems like we've all got old together.

"I've put my tools away—smeared the plow and the hoe with grease, oiled the cultivator shovels. I've placed 'em, too, so the ones used first in the spring are here behind. I've never taken quite so much pains before to arrange them just right. I'm not so well, no more, and it may be the last year I'll put them tools away. I feel almost like they're not all mine, and I want to have 'em in good shape for the next fellow who uses 'em."

HEADS DRIVE IN RURAL SECTIONS

Geiger Named To Direct Red Cross Roll Call In Area Outside of Mansfield.

Joseph T. Geiger, Mansfield funeral director today had accepted the county chairmanship for the annual Roll Call of Richland county chapter of the Red Cross which will launch a drive for 22,000 members Armistice day, Nov. 11.

Named by L. W. Birch, Roll Call chairman, Geiger is now starting to organize county workers who will seek a quota of 3,700 members in Shelby and 3,000 members throughout the county exclusive of Mansfield and Shelby.

Greater Mansfield's quota has been set at 15,300 and the campaign for this part of the membership will be in charge of Mrs. Frank Maxwell, appointed earlier in the month.

The annual workers' dinner the night preceding Roll Call has been cancelled this year, Birch announced, in favor of city and county meetings to be called by the chairmen for the purpose of giving final instructions.

Campaign workers in Greater Mansfield will meet Nov. 5, at a place to be designated later. The county meeting is now being arranged by Geiger. Approximately 650 workers will participate in the drive.

FETE CRESTLINE GIRL AT PARTY

CRESTLINE—Miss Louise Potter, bride-elect of Allen Horning, was honored by a group of friends when Miss Evelyn Emmer entertained recently in her home on Clink boulevard.

The honoree received the high score award in bridge, and other prizes won by Mrs. Robert Metz, Mrs. Robert Sutter and Miss Florence Horning were turned over to her. She also received a shower of bathroom gifts from the group.

The place of the bride-elect was marked with a corsage of fall flowers when the hostess served luncheon at one long table appointed with yellow and white. Favors were individual crystal mayonnaise holders.

Richland Boards Told Central Examination Plan To Be Started Nov. 21.

Richland county draft boards will send their first group of registrants to Fort Hayes, Columbus, for centralized examination sessions, Nov. 21, board clerks said today.

The county was asked to send a total of 224 registrants to Columbus for examinations during the final 10 days of November.

Board 2 will be the first to try the new plan, sending 66 youths to Fort Hayes Nov. 21. Board 1 will send 84 on Nov. 25, and Board 3, 74 on Nov. 27.

The registrants will return home after the examinations. Those approved by physicians in Columbus will await their call for induction at their homes.

Meanwhile, the county's three boards learned today that at least 11 of the 123 prospective inductees sent to the Fort Hayes induction station Monday have been disqualified in the final physical examination and will be sent home. They will be replaced by other registrants.

Approximately 50 youths will go to the Mansfield Armory Thursday for the first of two physical check-ups they will have before they are inducted into the army. The examinations in Mansfield are expected to continue until next month, or until the boards have enough men to meet their November quotas.

Total domestic and export sales of liquefied petroleum gas in 1939 amounted to 255,150,000 gallons.

Prison Guards Are Trained In Art of Jiu-Jitsu

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— Judo, the Japanese philosophy of defense by non-aggression, best known to America by the athletic jiu-jitsu which it incorporates, is a major study to every guard at California's new prison walls at Chino.

Superintendent Kenyon J. Scudder told of training methods in the new prison where minimum security men from San Quentin will get a partial taste of freedom to prepare them for life on the outside.

He said he found that judo has given his supervisors new grace of movement and a calmness of mind; that it has erased the defense mechanism of suspicions so often seen in prison guards.

"Judo implies high moral standards and is essentially a philosophy. It is the application of mental and physical strategy in times of danger in which the other person's antagonism is used to their disadvantage," Scudder said.

Important Message to Folks Who Have

HEAD COLDS

If head is stuffed up, eyes watery, nose running or so clogged you can hardly breathe—just try a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. Then enjoy the grand relief it brings.

Va-tro-nol is so effective because it does three very important things. It (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) soothes irritation, (3) helps clear cold-clogged nasal passages . . . and thus brings relief!

If a Cold Threatens, use Va-tro-nol at first sniffle or sneeze. Helps prevent many colds from developing. Follow directions in folder.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

My permission to Lillian to talk was superfluous. Nothing but an effective gag could have kept her quiet, after my revelation concerning the code in which Marion had couched her letter to Ronald.

"Oh Madge, darling, you're not making this up just to cheer me, are you?" she demanded.

"You ought to know better than that," I told her reprovingly, for I saw that my sternness was the best remedy for her mental state.

"Then go on, quickly," she pleaded. "What did Marion say to Ronald?"

Lillian Eager to Hear.

"Before I tell you," I said slowly, "will you remember that the statements in the letter were enclosed between misspelled words, and therefore were meant to be taken as exactly the opposite in meaning?"

"Yes, yes," she panted. "Hurry!"

"She told Ronald that she loved another man, and was going to marry him, and begged Ronald to forgive her because she didn't love him any more. Then she used a sentence written down in the code book—'This thing is to strong for me,' with 'too' 'to.' In the code book Mary remembered having put away at the farmhouse, and which my father rushed in to us, that cliche meant I am being forced to write this."

Lillian closed her eyes for a second, and her face contorted.

"Oh, oh," she groaned. "Marion, my baby, forgive your mother!"

It was the only indication she was ever to give that she had doubted her child, and the next instant she had swung her feet over the edge of the bed.

"Where is my blue quilted robe?" she demanded. "Oh, I see it, there on the foot of the bed. Oh let me go, Madge! You don't know what you're doing, holding me down like this."

For I had slipped my arms from her grasp, put my hands upon her shoulders, and was preventing her forcibly from getting to her feet.

"Yes, I know exactly," I said. "Will you listen to me a minute or two longer?" I demanded. "If after that you wanted your quilted robe, or a star from Heaven, I shall try to let you have it. But just now, I want your attention. Will you lie back and listen?"

Her eyes met and measured mine for a long second. Then she sank back against her pillows.

"I am—listening—" she said slowly, "but—please—hurry!"

"Lillian, dear girl!" I began. "We all know that you received a letter from Marion yesterday morning. Wait!" as with stormy eyes she started to speak. "Do not blame Miss Whitlock. Father questioned her about your collapse and the reason for it. She told us of your joy at receiving a certain letter which looked different than the rest of the mail, and your dejection after reading it. My father showed the nurse the envelope Marion had sent to Ronald, and she said she was sure it was the same handwriting."

I paused and looked at her steadily.

"Then the Chief demanded action," I said.

She shivered but lay still, her eyes fixed on mine, her fingers still now, almost rigid, in my grasp.

"Lillian, I want you to think what you have done in my place, if Faith were grown up and had disappeared. Remember, you were in a drug-induced sleep and could not be talked to for hours. And every minute in this investigation is priceless—must not be wasted. What would you have done in my place?"

She waited for a long second, then a sad wraith of a smile curved her lips.

"I should have hunted for the letters," she said.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 31.

A day in which unusual or brilliant performance may be expected to give sudden or unforeseen benefits, is read from very interesting planetary aspects. Ingenuity, rare skill, unusual tactics or audacious ways of stimulating outworn methods, backed up by profound insight, sound analysis and hard work, should foster unusual programs or adventures. But these are subject to snares, trickery, intrigues or subtle pitfalls. Careless or erratic conduct may prove a defeating factor.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of some unusual, possibly brilliant or spectacular performance or accomplishment, with a sudden flare of genius or exceptional inventive skill, perhaps in some entirely original field. But be alert to fraud or duplicity aimed at illicit involvements or loss of prestige or profits. Avoid rash moves, excitement or emotional or nervous strain.

A child born on this day will have exceptional talents and inventive genius as well as sound and practical principles, insight and intuitions. It may have occult leanings.

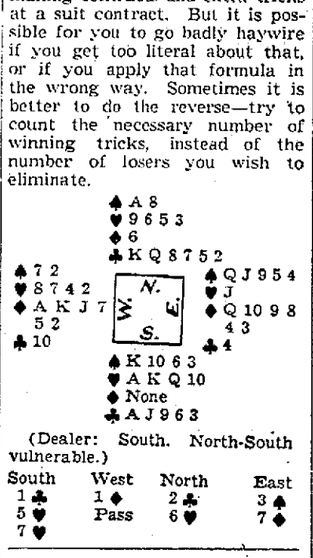
ARE THERE 13 TRICKS?

PLANNING to get rid of your losers is one of the basic rules for making contracts and extra tricks at a suit contract. But it is possible for you to go badly haywire if you get too literal about that, or if you apply that formula in the wrong way. Sometimes it is better to do the reverse—try to count the necessary number of winning tricks, instead of the number of losers you wish to eliminate.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♦	2 ♣	3 ♠
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	7 ♦

West led the diamond K, which got ruffed by the heart 10, and South laid down three top hearts. He saw that he could discard one of his losing spades on the dummy's last club, and then reckoned that his only chance to get rid of the remaining one was by ruffing it in the dummy with the heart 9. That, of course, would set up West's heart 8 for a trump trick and beat the contract. He didn't dare try that at once, as after winning the heart trick West could run a bunch of diamonds. So he played clubs until West ruffed the third, and then took the rest of the tricks.

While East was patting himself on the back during the post-mortem for his own 7-Diamonds sacrifice bid which caused the opponents to play the hand in hearts instead of 7-Clubs, North pointed out what a cinch it should have been to make the contract. After the diamond ruff and three heart tricks, South could have gone to the dummy with the spade A and laid down the heart 9, dropping West's 8 and discarding the spade 6 from the South hand. Thus the spade 6 and heart 9 would have been on the same trick, as they were anyway, but they would have been on a trump lead, instead of a spade lead, setting West's last trump.

Simple counting to show this play would have been thus: First a diamond ruff, plus three trump tricks, plus the spade A, plus the six tricks in clubs equals a total of 13. Very elementary, my dear Watson!

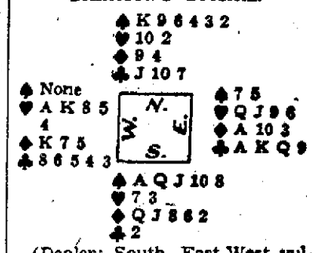
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What difference should it make in the result of this deal if South decides to open the bidding instead of passing?

RUFFLED HIM

Husband Resents Wife's Data on How To Comb Hair.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Guido Immarino, 24, told police that he lost his temper when his bride of a year told him how to comb his hair.

"She was always telling me how to drink my coffee, how to tie my tie, urging me to take a shower after I got home from work, how to wear my clothes. But when she told me how to comb my hair—that was the limit," he told Police Judge Joseph Artl.

Immarino was charged with striking his wife and the case was referred to the probation department.

HE HAD HOBBY OF BEING FIRST, SO LOOK WHERE ARMY PUT HIM

CAMDEN, S. C.—(INS)— As a private citizen, George Horn of New Work City doted on being a "first" man. It was his hobby.

Following his hobby, he claims he was first to visit the New York World's fair in 1939; he was first to use New York's sixth avenue subway; he was first man through the Lincoln tunnel in New York, and so on for a long list of "firsts."

Came the defense program, and the call for citizen soldiers.

Yep, George Horn was first to be enlisted when the army issued its first call for additional recruits under the new emergency army enlistment program.

Of course, he enlisted in the first Corps area.

Today, as a soldier with the first army, Horn is on maneuvers in the Carolinas, and . . .

He's officially identified as Private Horn of the 1st squad, 1st platoon headquarters company, 1st engineer battalion, 1st infantry, 1st army.

Natonal consumption of liquefied petroleum gases last year was 35 per cent greater than in 1938.

Knew All About The Girl Except Her Last Name

BOSTON —(INS)— He knew all about "Betty"—except her last name — said Miss Marie Lahey, admitting clerk at City hospital of a man who called to ask "Betty's" condition.

To repeated requests by the man for news of the condition of "Betty," whom he described as:

"A blond with beautiful eyes and a lovely smile, has lovely teeth, stands about 5 feet 4 and is easy to get along with," Miss Lahey replied:

"I'm sorry but I can't tell you how she is until I have her last name."

The man countered with, "I don't know her last name, I only met her a week ago."

HOME MAKER FAILS

CHICO, Cal.—(U.P.)— Police approved of the decision of a new bridegroom that he should have a furnished home but disapproved of the manner in which he went about it. Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Quick Results.

To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—a child could do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly But you'll say it beats them all for quick results

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it can't be beaten. It acts in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

I'LL BE SEEING YOU!

Declares the great root and herb diuretic, Bee Bee's, relieved Prostatis, Kidney Trouble, Inflammation of Bladder, Aches and Pains.

"After I had taken the first bottle of Bee Bee's I felt an improvement in my condition and my second bottle gave me wonderful relief," says Mr. William Waltz, of Bloomville, Ohio.

MR WM. WALTZ

"Although I was working every day and I wasn't what you would call sick, I had sharp pains in my hips, legs, arms, shoulders and feet. At times it was hard for me to bend over or raise my arms. The trouble was worse as soon as I got up in the morning and I thought I had an attack of rheumatism. My neck would become stiff and I couldn't figure out the cause. It is possible that my kidneys were disordered causing most of pains through my system. I didn't rest well at night and at times my energy wasn't up to the usual mark. My nerves unsteady and I felt generally out of sorts.

"Bee Bee's relieved the pains in my hips, legs, arms and in other parts of my body. Now I can raise my arms or bend over without any distress and the stiffness has left my neck. My kidneys are better and my nerves are steady. I feel better and sleep better and work better. Bee Bee's win my highest praise My wife took Liverine and received satisfactory benefits from it.

GEN. JOHNSON: Assert War Showdown Bill Would Fail

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—Of all the unconvincing, make-weight arguments against including wages in any price ceiling—the one that takes the cake is Mrs. Roosevelt's announced "feeling" that it might be what she calls "involuntary bondage" prohibited by the 13th amendment to the constitution.

Johnson

The 13th amendment is the anti-slavery provision prohibiting "involuntary servitude." If some stabilization of wages is slavery, we have certainly a fine collection of serfs in this country. Al. the government employes whose wages are fixed by law and included. Public Slave No. 1 is the president, of the United States He sought the collar and shackles of bondage not only once but thrice.

Several million government wage and salary earners are in that dark and hopeless company, including the vastly expanded army and navy and all the millions on relief of one kind or another. More millions on fixed salaries and wages in private industry raise the toll to such mountainous heights that we might as well call ourselves a nation of slaves, and the civil war should have been omitted.

It is all right even in Mrs Roosevelt's book, to fix prices of food and rent. That conjures up some more millions of slaves—all the farmers, landlords and hotelkeepers. It is more than a little ridiculous.

There are other provisions in the constitution to guarantee individual rights. There is one that says that congress shall pass no law impairing the obligation of contracts and another that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation.

We are in a wholesale process of dumping these on the garbage heap with hardly a squawk from the injured.

What do you suppose the priority system does to the obligation of contracts? A has an agreement with B to complete for him a building by a certain date and, in common prudence has contracted with C, D, and E for materials to be delivered before that date to perform his obligation. Then a priorities order comes along. A can't complete the building and if he could, C, D and E can't deliver the materials promised to do the job. Has that administrative order—it is not in itself a law—impaired the obligations of a contract? It has impaired the obligations of many, but except for frantic attempts to find some way to accommodate the sacrifice, do you hear anybody wailing about the constitution?

Some 20,000 to 40,000 small enterprises are going to lose their business, built up through years of effort. They are going to lose them because the government will take their sources of supply and even their inventories for public use

Are they going to get just compensation? Not so far as anybody has yet heard. Yet even here I have heard of no one at the wailing wall of the constitution. This is a national emergency and it is only the generous bleeding heart of the first lady who finds a constitutional reason for applying a much milder rule to wages.

Involuntary servitude is some kind of forced labor—making a man do what he doesn't want to do with or without wages. It couldn't be forced in this country in this crisis and I doubt if ever. We would all rise up and strike it down.

BRICKER WILL CONFER TODAY ON 'SMEARING'

Civil Service Commissioner Expected To Ask For Explanation of Charge.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Arthur S. Flemming, Republican member of the U. S. civil service commission, was to confer late today with Governor Bricker on the latter's charge that the commission is trying to "smear" the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation by investigation tactics.

Political observers were unable to hazard a guess on the probable course of the meeting. Bricker said he had nothing more to say and Washington sources said that Fleming was prepared to let the governor "do all the talking."

"I don't know what I am going to tell Mr. Fleming," Bricker said in advance of the meeting. "I believe I've already said all there is to say. Mr. Fleming might have something to tell me though."

Washington reports said that the commission took the position that Bricker had made charges against the commission and it was up to him to prove them.

The Republican governor early this month refused permission to the commission to establish headquarters in the BUC building to pursue questioning of BUC employes about alleged political activity in violation of the federal Hatch act.

The governor said that the inquiry was "designed to win the administration congressional votes for a grab by the federal government of control of all society security agencies."

Flemming was chosen by his two commission associates to come to Ohio in an effort to get some evidence in support of the governor's charge.

The governor has notified State Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert to appeal the case of Harry J. Patterson, chief of the Cincinnati BUC office who was ordered removed by the civil service commission for alleged political activity. The commission, after an investigation, found Patterson guilty of "pernicious political activity" during the 1940 gubernatorial campaign.

FACES COURT

Fredericktown Man Accused of Loan Fraud Charges.

Arrested yesterday afternoon by deputy sheriffs on a secret grand jury indictment returned several weeks ago, Stanley Allgire, 26, Fredericktown R. D. 2, was held today in county jail on a charge of fraud.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz said the indictment accuses Allgire of giving false information concerning his financial assets to a Bellville bank to obtain a loan. The prosecutor said Allgire listed properties he did not own and failed to mention mortgages against his holdings. He filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy soon after obtaining the loan, officers said.

Allgire was to be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C H Huston today or tomorrow.

Also held in the county jail was Fred H. Simmons 38, who returned here yesterday from Granville to surrender to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson who wanted him on a non-support charge. The warrant was signed by Simmons' wife, Mrs. Emeline Simmons of Plymouth. They have two minor children. Simmons will go before Municipal Judge G. E Kalbfleisch.

SISTERS TAKE DEFENSE STUMP

Go to Aid of Candidate Accused of Being German Sympathizer.

CANTON — (AP) — Two sisters and two nieces have come to the defense of Charles W. Weeks, Democratic mayoralty candidate, whom another sister described as a "German sympathizer."

At a Democratic rally last night, the four women sat on the platform with Weeks and attested to statements which were read in their behalf, replying to charges made at a recent Republican rally, when Mrs Winifred Weeks Gardner of Knoxville, Md., formerly of Akron, attacked Weeks' candidacy.

A statement by Mrs. Leona Weeks McDonald, of Mt. Vernon, declared she had never heard anything in family meetings which would "lead me to suspect that my brother ever made any statement or had any feeling in favor of the present German government or of Hitler or of the former German government engaged in the World war."

BLAMES ARSON IN HUGE BLAZE

Fire Chief Reports Kindling Found at Site $125,000 Conflagration.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Fire Chief Ed Welch declared that an arsonist set a fire which today wrecked four lumber warehouses and ruined 2,000,000 board feet of hardwood

Firemen at the H H Giesy and Bros Lumber company, whose loss was estimated at $125,000 to $150,000, found three places where the fire had been kindled, Welch said.

At each of the spots, he added, was a bushel of material such as cellulose matter, paper, shaving and kindling. One had burned, one was partly burned and the third did not catch fire.

A shift in the wind kept the early morning flames confined to one section of the block-square lumber yard and saved storage sheds, stacked lumber and a curing building.

All available fire-fighting equipment was used after three alarms and two calls for additional pumpers and engine companies

The Giesy company distributes hardwood lumber throughout Ohio. R. N. Giesy, jr, of Lancaster, is general manager.

Sam Hawley, 19, suffered an arm injury in breaking the glass of a fire call box with his fist.

MERCHANTS HEAR HUMORIST AND PHILOSOPHER AT ANNUAL DINNER

Humorist Mack Sauer carefully avoided his subject, "The Blistering Blitz on Bunker Hill," but thoroughly entertained the 150 persons who attended the Retail Merchants association annual dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ball room last night with a mixture of rapid-fire and homely philosophy.

Editor of a Leesburg, O., weekly newspaper, Sauer stressed the value of American freedom and buoyancy of thought in a 35-minute talk.

His address climaxed a brief program that also featured Buddy Lyons, 15-year-old imitator, and a talk by J. C. Stout, Senior high school faculty member, on the operation of distributive salesmanship classes at the high school.

Stout said that 22 members of the sales classes had been placed in city stores obtaining 15 hours practical experience weekly.

R M Calene, president of the association, reviewed the year's accomplishments.

Pointing out that the association has served as a clearing house for merchants' problems, he listed among other achievements the Vining sales course, annual bargain days, Saturday night store closings, defense stamp sales promotion, and the annual goodwill dinner.

J A Herbert and W. S. Ross were re-elected directors and Charles P. Siegenthaler was elected a new member, all to serve terms of three years. Hold-over members of the board are C H Saylor, C W Russell, L. A Ott, M. C Pecht and John W. Graham Calene announced that the annual directors' meeting and election of officers will be held in the near future.

Guests introduced at the meeting included. Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, State Representative John C Catlett, and Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals

Graham was in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Dana Jenney, the Mansfield beauty who made good in New York as a John Powers model, is given a new billing in a handsome book just off the press entitled, "The Powers Girls," written and published by the model tycoon Hailed as one of a "dozen long-stemmed American beauties," averaging five feet, nine inches, in height, Miss Jenney is referred to as "the aristocratic type . . . with refinement of feature, proud carriage and regal qualities." This picture of the Mansfield model is well borne out in a full-page art lay-out in another publication, the current issue of the Ladies' Home Journal, which depicts Miss Jenney as the "Image of Fashion."

A lot of residents of the Ontario community were pretty angry last night about the trick some Halloween pranksters played on them while they attended an entertainment in the school auditorium. A number of them returned to thir cars after the program to find the tires flat, and those who had pumps in their cars had to get to work with them before they could go home. Deputy sheriffs who investigated said several of the motorists had no pumps and were forced to call garages for help. The pranksters eluded officers.

At a late hour, a woman contacted by phone a member of The News-Journal staff asking if and when the president of the United States can be arrested on felony or any other charge. The staff member, rather sleepy answered that the president must be impeached by the house of representatives first and be discharged from the presidency before he could be arrested for anything The staff member, now thoroughly awake, desires to advise the caller that the information given last night is correct.

SENATORS RAP DECLARATION AS FAKE PLAN

Debate on Neutrality Act Revision Enters Fourth Day.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Senate administration leaders today declared that a resolution for a declaration of war against Germany—if offered as a "showdown amendment" to the bill revising the neutrality act—would be decisively rejected as a "fake" proposal.

Aroused by the drive for arming of ships and repeal of the combat zone provisions of the neutrality act, some non-interventionists have predicted that before the fight is over the senate would be forced to vote on a war declaration.

"I don't know anybody who would vote for it, and I doubt that it will be offered," said Democratic Leader Barkley.

"An amendment for a declaration of war wouldn't get a single vote," said Sen. Pepper (D., Fla.) "If it is offered it should be thrown out as an effort to trifle with a solemn subject."

As debate on neutrality revision entered its fourth day, Sen. Thomas (D., Utah) was called upon by the administration to support the proposal to wipe out what President Roosevelt calls hampering restrictions in the aid-to-democracies program.

While Sen. Hill, Ala., Democratic whip, declared that the administration is sure of 55 votes for neutrality act revision, Sen. Taft (R., Ohio) voiced hope of a reversion of feeling that would upset administration plans.

"I would place our vote at a maximum of 35," said Sen. Hill. "The bill will be passed next week."

Hill's estimate, on the basis of a full senate vote, would make the vote 55 to 41.

"If the bill were voted on today we have 44 votes against it," said Taft. "I don't concede defeat yet.

"Nearly all members are on record against letting ships enter combat zones where incidents may result that would put the country into war. There is a lack of force behind this bill. Perhaps it is because political principles are opposed to the administration pressure. Belief that passage of the bill means war is a restraining influence."

Administration forces gained a vote when Sen. Kilgore (D., W. Va) returned to the city and announced that he will support the measure.

Kilgore's announcement brought a poll of administration votes to 41, with a number of senators saying that they probably will vote for the measure. Some strong administration supporters are absent and could not be polled.

ASCAP Tunes Back On Air After Ban Of Ten Months

NEW YORK — (INS) — ASCAP songs, banned from two of the nation's largest radio network's, since Jan. 1 went back on the air today following the signing of a contract between the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers with the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The 10-month music war was started when ASCAP pulled its songs off the air in a dispute over royalties on use of its copyrighted music. The withdrawal was made when the radio chains objected to new rate schedules.

The Mutual Broadcasting system, one of the participants in the dispute in the beginning, signed an ASCAP contract some time ago. The MBS can change to the terms accorded CBS and NBC should mutual regard them as more favorable.

The new contract calls for payment by NBC and CBS of 2¾ per cent of income from commercial programs. Single stations will pay 2¼ per cent from commercial program income.

MORE TIPSY PEDESTRIANS THAN DRIVERS KILLED BY TRAFFIC

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—More tipsy pedestrians than tipsy drivers die in traffic accidents, a report in the American Medical Association Journal indicated today.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales and Alexander O. Gettler of New York reported on a study of the alcoholic content of 3,471 persons killed in vehicle accidents in New York during the years 1928-37.

They said the ratio of pedestrians to drivers killed was 11 to 1 and that 30.7 per cent of the pedestrians were "under the influence of alcohol." The percentage of those killed in elevated and subway accidents was 54.9 per cent, they said.

The article said 56.5 per cent of the 214 passenger car drivers killed and 9.1 per cent of the 44 truck drivers were under the influence of alcohol.

"It is obvious that the driver is much better protected than the pedestrian and therefore less liable to fatal injuries," the article said. "The greater percentage of brain alcohol content in intoxicated drivers who have met with fatal accidents may be accounted for by the smaller number of total fatalities in the drivers."

Gonzales and Gettler said relaxed inhibitions, deficient sense of care and slow response to stimuli caused the tipsy man afoot to disregard safety rules and traffic regulations.

If You Want to Live to Be 105, Try These Rules

DARLINGTON, Ind. —(INS)— "Stop worrying, live in the open and always leave the table a little hungry, are the three factors Noah Monroe Brock, who recently celebrated his 105th birthday, says contributed to his longevity.

Mr. Brock lives on his farm near here and supervises most of the work. He can still remember clearly the days when he rode with Company B of the 10th Virginia cavalry under the command of General William Henry Lee. He can also recall the day at Fredericksburg when he was wounded in the right thigh with a minute ball.

At the close of the war he wanted to come north, so he married Miss Emily Church and they moved to their present site and have been there since.

Up until his nintieth birthday, Mr. Brock said he smoked and chewed tobacco. Then he decided it was time to quit—before he got too old.

BRITISH TROOPS, STILL UNCAUGHT, ASSIST GREEKS

Face Vigorous Reprisals To Wage Underground War Against Invaders.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is another in a series of articles about underground, anti-Nazi activity in the occupied countries of Europe.)

By MERRILL MUELLER
(INS Staff Correspondent)

LONDON—In Greece and Crete the Greeks, aided by 3,000 uncaptured British troops operating from wild, mountainous country, have begun a strong campaign of sabotage which has met with vicious reprisals by the Germans, Italians and Bulgarians, particularly the latter, and has resulted in over 100 executions and 5,000 prison sentences, according to the official figures of the free Greek government.

However, it was emphasized by an official spokesman for the government that these figures do not include "over 15,000 Greek casualties as a result of the Bulgarian rampage through the drama district."

"The villages of Pentapolis, Hagion, Pneuma, Nes, Zikne, Gazaros, and Doxaton were almost entirely razed," he said. "Admittedly, these casualties came as a result of open fighting. It is known that the Greeks killed 330 Bulgarians and seven Germans—but look at the percentage of reprisals!"

The fighting occurred after the Bulgarians moved into Grecian Thrace, assigned to Bulgaria by the Axis as a corridor to the Aegean.

In the Kavalla district and in southern Sparta, the free Greek spokesman went on, "open revolt" also continues. All communications in those areas have been cut, according to an official report brought out of Greece Oct. 17 by a man who now is a member of the free Greek government in London.

"Because the Bulgarians were unable to police northern Greece," the spokesman said, "the Germans moved in five more regiments—mostly new and partly trained recruits—to help. Guerrilla raiding was reported most active there.

"These regiments were in addition to the previous occupational forces of 30,000 Germans and 15 Italian divisions."

At least a score more Greeks, it was said, have been shot for sheltering Guerrillas, and others have been executed for arranging the escape of certain soldiers captured by the Germans.

Few railroads are running, largely because no coal is available and there is but little lignite, according to the picture presented by the free Greeks. Sabotage has resulted in a 50 per cent decrease in dockyard production, with workers frequently resorting to sit-down strikes. Communications in all parts of the country are damaged daily.

"Athens today is a city of starvation. Nevertheless, resistance goes on, and whatever sabotage is possible is carried out. Such are conditions today that open rebellion possibly could be instigated readily, but the Greeks are practically without arms," the spokesman said.

"They know that their fate is swift death if they are caught—or at least a horrible end in a concentration camp, such as we fear befell a number of those who disappeared."

Actress to Wed Soldier Soon

Preparing for her wedding, Nov. 3, to Corporal Palmer Beaudette of Ft. Benning, Ga., Cobina Wright, jr., prominent New York society girl and screen actress, tries on part of her trousseau in her New York home. Beaudette, wealthy scion of a Michigan family, once chartered an airplane for $1,300 to rush back to army camp after visiting Miss Wright while on furlough.

THEATERS

New York Comedy.

A cross section of New York life minus penthouses, gangsters and night clubs is depicted in the gay comedy, "New York Town," starring Mary Martin and Fred MacMurray at the Ohio. It's the section that takes advantage of free lunches at food demonstration counters and free beauty demonstrations at student shops that is pictured as Mary Martin, a small town girl in Manhattan, gets "wised-up" on how to get by on practically nothing by Fred MacMurray in the role of a sidewalk photographer. Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff and Lynne Overman are others in the cast.

Army Revel.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are the boys who put revel in reveille in the current army comedy. "Great Guns" showing at the Madison. Daffy story of two whacky civilians who take their pet crow, Penelope, with them when then enlist in the army the picture shows what happens when they mix with a hard-boiled sergeant. Donald Nelson inspires their entry into the army and Sheila Ryan plays the girl who draws the attentions of all three. Edmund MacDonald is cast as the sergeant. "Secret of the Wastelands," starring William Boyd in a Hopalong Cassidy role is the second attraction.

Family Drama.

The story of three sons who make life interesting for the family is depicted in "Three Sons O'Gun," showing at the Ritz. Wayne Morris, Marjorie Rambeau, Irene Rich and Tom Brown are featured. "Private Nurse," with Brenda Joyce and Jane Darwell is the second attraction.

Midnight Show.

A midnight showing of the current screen bill at the Park theater has been planned for Friday night as a special Halloween feature. Walt Disney's technicolor production, "The Reluctant Dragon," headlines the bill starting at 11:30 p. m. and will be supplemented with Tim Holt's "Robbers of the Range." In the picture audiences are taken backstage at the Disney studio and shown how animated cartoons are conceived and executed including such popular characters as Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse. Robert Benchley conducts the tour and the parade of cartoons includes that of the "The Reluctant Dragon."

Matrimonial Mix-Up.

"Keeping Company," showing at the Majestic, presents John Shelton and Ann Rutherford as a young married couple whose wedding has been partially the result of a conspiracy between the bride's father and her kid sister. Frank Morgan and Irene Rich and Virginia Weidler are in the cast of this family drama in which incompatability rears its head. Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney in "Mens of Boys Town," the second film, continue the story started in their first production of Father Flanigan's city of little men.

PREFER ISLANDS

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—(U.P.)—The call to duty in far away U. S. possessions is attractive to many of the Lehigh Uiversity R. O. T. C. seniors who will be inducted in the army after graduation this June. Hawaii and the Philipines are the top choice with Peurto Rico and Alaska second choice.

Folks, I want you to try my NEW KIND OF APPLE PIE SAYS AUNT JENNY

Orange juice an' grated orange rind give a tangy, new taste to the spicy apple fillin'. An' the tender, delicate Sprycrust lets you get the FULL deliciousness

"You can't get the FULL enjoyment of the fillin' if the crust's even the least little mite off-flavor. So don't risk ordinary shortenin's. Use purer Spry for this an' every pie you make.

"Why, that mouth-meltin', nutsweet Sprycrust just seems to bring out all the flavory goodness of the fillin'. Spry cakes are so rich-tastin', too, an' lighter. Yet Spry costs just about half what expensive cake shortenin' does! Get Spry."

Aunt Jenny's FULL FLAVOR APPLE AND ORANGE PIE

1 recipe Spry Piecrust
6 tart apples, sliced thin
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 tablespoon butter

Roll ⅓ of dough and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with sliced apples. Mix sugar, spices, salt, orange rind and juice; sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of pie with water. Roll remaining dough for top crust and cut a few slits to permit steam to escape. Fit top crust over apples and seal edge of pie. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 50 to 60 minutes. See how the little touch of orange adds new zest to the apple filling. And the flaky Sprycrust is so delicate-tasting that you get the FULL, rich, fruity tang.

Spry Piecrust

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup Spry
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ⅔ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. Use Spry and this easy Spry way for all your pies—hear the compliments on your tender, flaky, delicate crust!

UNIONIZATION OF MAJOR STEEL CAUSES CRISIS

Ramifications Seen In Sharp Controversy Over Labor In Captive Mines.

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
(AP Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON—About 95 per cent of the 53,000 miners in the "captive" coal mines owned by the major steel companies are members of the CIO United Mine workers.

Why should John L. Lewis and the UMW be so insistant that the remaining 5 per cent come in?

Why should the steel companies so steadfastly oppose the NMW's demand for a union shop?

Many of those in touch with the situation believe that the real issue behind the current controversy is whether or not the union ship shall be installed eventually in all major steel making and ship building plants.

The defense mediation board recognized that this question was in the background when it decided against recommending either for or against a union shop in the captive mines.

"It became clear to the members of the mediation board," its report said, "that there could be no meeting of minds in the conference before it with respect to the two conflicting rights asserted in the present dispute, because of the possible repercussions of any agreement here made on the steel and ship building industries, in one or both of which most of the interests involved in this dispute are engaged."

The two "rights" to which the board referred are:

As asserted by the companies: The right of every workers to choose for himself whether he will or will not join the union, and the contention that his employment should not be made to depend upon union membership.

As asserted by the union: The right of union workers to refuse to work with nonunion men.

When John L. Lewis named J. P. Morgan as his "adversary" he did so on the ground that Morgan controls U. S. Steel.

Bill steel controls a vast steel-making and shipbuilding empire. Furthermore, it is the recognized leader for a large part of the American industrial world. When big steel sets a wage, literally hundreds of independent plants and shops fall in line. Similarly, its policies set the policies of others.

The CIO is out to organize all steel and shipbuilding plants.

U. S. Steel, thus far, has steadfastly stood out against the union shop. To win one in its coal mines would be to crack its armor.

It may be recalled that the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company at Kearny, N. J., was a wholly-owned subsidiary of U. S. Steel.

When the mediation board recommended last summer that the CIO industrial union or marine and shipbuilding workers be given a union maintenance contract, U. S. Steel preferred instead to let the government take over the plant.

L. H. Korndorff, president of Federal Shipbuilding, said: "We are unwilling to abandon the defense of the freedom of the American worker to choose whether he will belong to a union or not."

The company stood on that position and, to get the yard in operation again, the government had to seize it and direct the navy to operate.

The union maintenance clause was not so inclusive as the union shop. It provided that workers who had joined the union, or who might join it in the future, would have to maintain their union membership in good standing or be discharged. There was no requirement, in the contract itself, that any workers join the union. But big steel balked at that.

3,000 Fans See Simpson Gridders Defeat Appleseed

Sport Podge by REX HESS

More than once since the Massillon game fans have stopped me with the question: "Why don't you start something toward getting the kind of a coaching system here that they have in Massillon?"

I don't think it's my place to start any such movement. There's nothing wrong with the system we've got here now, but it can be gradually improved and I don't think the school board should pass up any chance to improve it.

* * *

But to put in as big a coaching staff in the high school as they have at Massillon, and coaches in the junior high schools capable of taking big high school jobs, as Massillon junior high mentors have proven themselves in the past year, is too revolutionary a step for Mansfield to take with the present limited seating capacity of Stadium field.

The school's athletics should bring in enough money to pay the large part of such a program, and Stadium can't bring in that kind of money.

In most cases the fans who have been doing the demanding, are not members of the Downtown Coaches association, which is the only sports organization in town which has a chance of growing large enough to ever be able to make a demand.

* * *

The Downtown Coaches is a helpful organization and wishes to continue that way. But it should be large enough so that if demands are ever necessary they could be backed up by an organization big enough to have some voice in the matter.

Mansfield fans are missing a bet by not joining the Downtown Coaches.

Mansfield supports its high school football team. It proved that when nearly 5,000 Mansfield fans made the trip to Massillon, with 2,106 of them taking advantage of the Downtown Coaches' arrangement for a special train.

* * *

But in all the excitement and fan fervor aroused by the Massillon trip, only 50 memberships were obtained on the train by the Downtown coaches.

Last year the organization claimed a membership of approximately 275. Some of the train memberships were renewals, many of them new ones. And the group's membership now is somewhere between 300 and 350.

If half of the fans who made the Massillon trip would join the Downtown Coaches, the group would be big enough to make some headway in a movement for a larger stadium and eventually for improvement in the coaching system.

* * *

Right now the coaches, and all concerned, are doing very well with the system and equipment at hand. That you'll have to admit.

Schmidt Scores All Points In 26-6 Win

Pioneer Band Wins Trophy Given By Downtown Coaches Group

By REX HESS, News-Journal Sports Editor.

IT WAS a great show Mansfield's junior high schools put on at Stadium field last night at John Simpson defeated Johnny Appleseed for the second straight year 26-6, to gain their second leg on the Downtown Coaches' city championship trophy.

It was a great show, and Mansfield was on hand to see it. Three thousand fans turned out to see a junior high school football game. That was the crowd estimate given by Harry Mehock, physical director of Mansfield schools.

The difference in the score was far from a true yardstick by which to measure the difference between the two teams. Appleseed twice missed a first down by a foot on the Simpson four yard line, and might easily have converted one of those chances into a touchdown.

First downs were nine for Simpson, eight for Appleseed, which comes closer to measuring the strength of the two teams.

* * *

The real difference was Roland Schmidt, right halfback for Simpson, who scored every point for the Bulldogs, four touchdowns and two extra points. Schmidt tallied twice on passes from Mike Zivkoff, ran 29 yards for one touchdown, and 62 yards for another. And he made good on two out of three chances for the extra point by the place-kick method. The other missed point came on an incomplete pass.

* * *

Fans who saw last year's first game between the two schools were not slow in declaring that Simpson and Appleseed both displayed a better brand of ball than was shown in the 1940 encounter.

The Bulldogs and Pioneers showed the junior high coaching system is working, and that future Mansfield high Tygers are being developed.

* * *

And the high school need not worry about the future of its band. The Simpson and Appleseed musical units put on a fine exhibition between halves, with Appleseed being awarded the Downtown Coaches' trophy. Which made it fair enough. Simpson won the football trophy, Appleseed the band trophy, and there wasn't too much difference in either contest.

* * *

Simpson got a break on the first kickoff, which led to its first touchdown within four minutes of play. Schmidt's boot bounced over Miller's head and by the time he retrieved the oval he was down on the Appleseed three yard line. Appleseed's punt went to its 30, and Simpson opened its scoring drive from there. Schmidt returned the kick to Appleseed's 23, then Zivkoff and Schmidt reeled off a first down on the 10. Zivkoff passed to Schmidt for a touchdown and Schmidt kicked goal.

* * *

A fighting Appleseed team not only held Simpson scoreless the rest of the half, but threatened early in the second period when a 40-yard drive was halted on the four yard line, a foot away from being a first down.

Appleseed kicked off and recovered to start the second half, and then two more bad breaks paved the way for Simpson's second touchdown. The Pioneers were penalized 15 yards for holding, back to the 50 yard stripe, and on the next play Rudolph Luckie, Simpson end, recovered a fumble on the Appleseed 48.

Schmidt and Zivkoff made a first down on the 36, and after Simpson was penalized five yards for offside. Schmidt got away on a 25 yard jaunt for first down on the 14. Again a Zivkoff to Schmidt pass was good for a touchdown. Schmidt's kick for point was low.

The next touchdown came with lightning speed. Appleseed's short kickoff was returned to the Simpson 45. Zivkoff broke loose for 26 yards, and on the next play Schmidt wheeled around end for 29 yards and a touchdown. Zivkoff's pass for point was incomplete.

* * *

Behind 19-0, Appleseed didn't give up. Taking a short kickof on its own 45, it drove 55 yards to score. The touchdown was tallied by Bob Hall, guard, on a double reverse and a 30-yard gallop. Zeller's pass for point was incomplete.

The fourth period again saw Appleseed on the march, all the way from its 44 to the Simpson four, where the Pioneers again missed a first down by a foot.

And back raged the Bulldog on a 96-yard touchdown parade. A lateral from Zivkoff to Schmidt made six yards on a fake kick. Then Zivkoff smashed into the line for 12 yards and lateraled to Schmidt for a first down on the 25. Schmidt made eight yards and Zivkoff hit for a first down on the 38. Then, behind perfect interference, Schmidt dashed around end for 62 yards and a touchdown. This time Schmidt booted the point.

Scholars May 'Adopt' Team

Teamless Chicago Savants Move to Adopt Bears.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The University of Chicago, where great football teams once abode but minus intercollegiate football the last two years, was asked today to return the spirit of grid wars to the campus by adopting a team — preferably the Chicago Bears, National professional champions.

* * *

In dormitories and eating places, students were circulating petitions suggesting the Bears as worthy successors to Maroon teams of old, while in a separate move the student magazine "Pulse" offered Northwestern as a suitable adopted alma mater.

* * *

Chicago has had no varsity grid team since the trustees in 1939 decided to abandon intercollegiate football, a move approved by President Robert Maynard Hutchins.

The "Pulse" sports editor, Demaree Polacheck, declared "members of the university like the spectacle, the thrill of football."

* * *

"But, in the same breath, sensible members of the university know full well that to hope for return of the autumn sport is foolish as long as President Hutchins and the board of trustees . . . control policy.

CLUB GOLFERS MUST CLEAN OUT LOCKERS

Westbrook Country club golfers must clear their lockers and take their clubs and other equipment home by Saturday, Jock Collins, club pro, announced today.

Work on the new clubhouse demands that locker rooms be cleared by Nov. 1, Collins explained.

Tygers Plan Air Attack

To Heave Oval Against Cleveland Central.

"And the air shall be filled with passes."

If you can write a theme song on that subject, you might present it to Coach Paul Snyder and his Mansfield high Tygers.

They're expecting to heave a few passes tomorrow night against Cleveland Central. Convinced that he has little to lose in uncovering his complete offense in the four remaining games on the schedule, Snyder has been working on an aerial attack all week, and has indicated that he will let the boys go to work on the overhead game.

Ken Krupp has blossomed out into an expert pass snatcher, and don't be surprised if he grabs a few tomorrow night.

Snyder hopes the Tygers will score early and often against Central so he can make more use of his second team than usual. With 15 seniors graduating off the top of this year's squad, it's time to begin thinking about next year's team.

John Butler will start at tackle in place of the injured Bill Pecht, and Snyder indicated today he will give Joe Romano and his bum knee a rest, starting Burrage at the end post. Otherwise the regular first team will take the field for the opening kickoff.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Barons' first game of the American Hockey league season is on the right side of the ledger.

The league champions won from the Pittsburgh Hornets last night, 6 to 4, and newcomers to the squad came in handy for the scoring.

* * *

Herb Foster, left wing who played with Philadelphia last year, laced in the first goal of the season, and before the first period was over, Joffre Desilets and Norm Locking had added two others, giving the Barons a strong lead which the Hornets never succeeded in overcoming.

Madison, Bellville Play Traditional Game Tonight

After tonight the football season will be just a football season to team members of the Bellville and Madison high school squad, but tonight it's different.

Tonight's the night that both squads point to all season—you determine a successful season for either school by tonight's game. The team that wins this one has a good year, it's that easy.

* * *

Played on the Madison turf starting at 8 p. m., the game will bring together the twice beaten Rams against the four times beaten Bellville Blue Jays.

* * *

At the kickoff the Madison team will be composed entirely of seniors with the exception of Jack Spriesterbaugh in the line.

That will mean that neither Harold Hammer nor Bob Anthony, backs, will be in the lineup.

Coach Al Fendrick has told the senior team, however, that its either a case of produce or else . . . either the senior Madison team gets a few tallies or Fendrick gets another lineup in the game.

On Bellville's side Coach George McIntyre says that after a week's rest Bill Levingstons, right guard, will be back in the lineup tonight and aiding the Blue Jays' attempts to stop Madison end sweeps.

* * *

McIntyre said yesterday that end sweeps were in his estimation the most dangerous Madison play and that his boys have been practicing all week in an effort to stop such play cold.

* * *

Aside from the grid warfare, Madison will celebrate its homecoming with a preliminary game between the Woodville and East Mansfield school teams at 6:30 p. m.

Woodville is coached by Hobart Robinson and Henry Sheet handles the East Mansfield team.

During the half time rest the Madison band will perform and Eileen Cox, homecoming queen, will be introduced to the stands.

* * *

Following the game, fans will adjourn to the school gym where the Golden Girls fans band will serve music to dancers.

Brown Is Juggling Backfield

Graf, Fisher Won't Play Full Game Against Pitt.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Coach Paul Brown juggled Ohio State backfield combinations today to offset the detrimental effect to the Buckeye offense of injuries to its two chief performers—Fullback Jack Graf and Halfback Dick Fisher.

Both of the senior ball-carrying starts participated in practice workouts but Fisher was handicapped by a sore arm received in the Northwestern game and Graf was unable to do any heavy work because of a swollen knee received in the Purdue game.

The four alternates in the personnel juggling were Johnny Hallabrin, Mansfield senior who will land a starting job at either fullback or quarterback; Sophomore Dick Burgett, a fullback from Columbus North; Sophomore Dick Palmer, fullback and quarterback, and George Lynn, quarterback from Niles.

Brown wants to get the right combination of experience and ability into his starting combination against Pittsburgh. The best bet now is that Hallabrin will be at his old post at quarterback and Burgett at fullback on the opening kickoff.

In view of a pronounced Pitt weakness against passes in games to date, Brown may order his boys to unleash their heaviest aerial attack of the year against the Panthers.

The Buckeye coach is known to be itching to open up the Buckeye attack and Pitt may be the first victim. Pitt opponents have completed exactly 50 per cent of 50 passes attempted. Duke hit the biggest jackpot last Saturday, completing 10 out of 17 for 147 yards.

The only drawback to these plans are that Graf, the best passer on the squad, probably will not be able to see much service and Fisher, another seasoned tosser, has a sore pitching arm.

Brown hopes to uncover some new throwing talent among his sophomores, possibly Palmer, Burgett or Paul Sarringhaus, the Hamilton speed boy.

Graf was unable to perform any heavy work in drills last night. His swollen knee prevents him from pivoting and spinning.

The Buckeye squad and staff leaves at 9:30 tomorrow morning for Pittsburgh. A surprisingly-large crowd of 55,000 is estimated for the game by Pittsburgh officials despite the victory-less record of the Panthers this season.

1,600 Start 11-Day Relay

Pennsylvania Boys Run Erie-Philadelphia Race.

ERIE, Pa.—(AP)—Ceremonies on the tiny, 128-year-old Niagara, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's flagship, will launch tomorrow a 467-mile cross-Pennsylvania relay run symbolizing the importance of America's physical fitness.

Sixteen hundred schoolboy athletes will take part in the 11-day distance run, each relaying on to the next an aluminum baton to each Independence hall at Philadelphia on Armistice day, where President Roosevelt has been invited to receive it.

Engraved on parchment in the hollow baton is this pledge of Pennsylvania students:

"I pledge allegiance to the United States of America and shall keep myself physically fit and ever ready to serve my country."

Sixteen-year-old Walker Reamer of Erie, clad in track uniform, will start the relay from the deck of the Niagara, which led a victorious fleet in the 1813 battle of Lake Erie.

Each boy, escorted by police cars, will run from 100 yards to a half mile, depending on the number of runners in his area. The daily laps will range from 20 to 72 miles. The last runner will be timed to arrive at Independence hall at 10:50 a. m., November 11, one minute before the 23rd anniversary of the armistice ending the World war.

The relay is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association and school authorities.

WILDCATS STRESS DEFENSE

EVANSTON, Ill—(INS)—Northwestern gridders concentrated on tight defense against Minnesota today as several members of the squad recovered from injuries. Sophomore Halfback Otto Graham, who underwent an operation for a fractured nose, was expected to be ready for action Saturday.

LAFAYETTE, Ind — (INS) — The boilermakers of Purdue riveted together a sturdy offensive today in preparation for their journey to New York Saturday to meet the Fordham Rams. Supporters found a note of gloom in the declaration that Co-Captain Tom Shelton probably would not be able to play.

RETURNS TO HOSPITAL

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Released from the hospital only two days ago, Coach Joe Meyer of the University of Cincinnati football team collapsed and returned for further treatment of a recurring liver ailment.

KNOX WINS BY K. O.

Cincinnati, Dayton Play

Other Ohio Games For Week-End Play Listed.

(By International News Service)

Ohio football fans, looking for attractions closer home than the Buckeye-Pittsburgh game Saturday at Pittsburgh, have a wide variety from which to select their week-end gridiron fare.

In non-conference circles, the top attractions will find Cincinnati's Bearcats invading Dayton to meet the Flyers and Ohio Wesleyan, current state leaders colliding with Akron's Zippers at Akron.

Cleveland fans have the neighborhood scrap between John Carroll and Western Reserve as a Saturday feature and the Case-Carnegie Tech Friday night to keep them occupied. A traditional battle between Miami and Ohio U., both of which have seen better days, is on the docket at Athens.

Some of the edge was knocked off the Wittenberg-Heidelberg game at Tiffin when Heidelberg fell before Bowling Green, 39 to 6, last Saturday but the game still has intriguing possibilities. Wittenberg has an uncrossed goal line to protect.

Bowling Green will have troubles of its own too at Kent State where they meet the Golden Flashes in the latter's homecoming. Kent will be seriously hampered in this game by the absence of Joe Mileski, senior passing ace, and Walt Porowski, 205 pound tackle. Mileski has a broken wrist and Porowski has a fractured jaw.

Capital's traditional battle with Otterbein at Westerville; Denison's invasion of Marietta; Kenyon at Oberlin; Mt. Union at Wooster, and Muskingum at Ohio Northern complete the Ohio conference slate, all games being scheduled for Saturday.

Other Saturday games find Baldwin-Wallace entertaining Davis-Elkins; Toledo DeSales clashing with Defiance at Toledo, and Toledo university at Illinois Wesleyan. Wilberforce meets Lincoln at Lincoln.

In addition to the Carnegie-Tech-Case game, the Friday night program lists Bluffton at Findlay and Tennessee Tech at Youngstown. In a Sunday game, Xavier's Musketeers, with Chet Murtryn a possibility for service, entertain Niagara university.

BUYS HORSE

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — Dr. Hugh M. Parshall of Urbana purchased Mitzie Mite, yearling trotter by Volomite, for $1,200 at the annual harness horse auction here. The horse was sold by W. B. Kneedler of Sullivan, Ill. Sep Palin of Indianapolis bought Miss Clancy, two-year-old pacer, from the Peninsular farms of Fremont for $2,000.

CLEVELAND— (AP) —A report published in Detroit that Charley Gehringer, 38-year-old Detroit Tiger second baseman, would succeed Roger Peckinpaugh as manager of the Cleveland Indians next season brought from Alva Bradley, owner of the Indians, the comment that it was a "poor guess."

"Even Gehringer's friends call him a sphinx and I don't know how it would be to have a sphinx for a manager," Bradley said.

GETS ARM OPERATION

ZANESVILLE — (AP) — Clay Bryant of Zanesville, former Chicago Cubs hurler now with Tulsa of the Texas league, left for St. Louis last night to undergo an operation to remove a piece of chipped bone in the elbow of his pitching arm.

2 Irish Hurt In Practice

Team Faces Army Without Captain or a Guard.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Notre Dame's football team today scanned the plan of action for Saturday's game in New York, allowed as how the Army was just another eleven guys in football pads, and vowed to cram rifle balls a la Angelo Bertelli's passes down the Cadet's throats.

Bertelli, the boy with 37 successful passes in 62 tries this year, will finger the trigger again Saturday, which means the Army will have to be ready to jump in this meeting of unbeaten teams.

* * *

Coach Frank Leahy hadn't planned to scrimmage Notre Dame for this game, protesting he couldn't afford to let anyone get hurt. Then came a chance to see how well the varsity could withstand Army plays as run by the freshmen, and Leahy couldn't resist. Result: Capt. Paul Lillis, right tackle, and Joe Laiber, right guard, were hurt and the Plebes made three touchdowns. Laiber suffered a sprained ankle and probably won't play Saturday.

* * *

The return of Dick Burgett to the Ohio State fullback job eases Coach Paul Brown's worry that he might have to ask Sophomore Dick Palmer to be ready for alternating relief duty at quarterback and full.

* * *

The Buckeyes will play the Panthers at Pittsburgh Saturday.... As Purdue's Boilermakers took off for New York today to play Fordham, Coach Mal Elward warned his boys the Rams have "one of the best backfields in the country." . . . He's especially apprehensive over Fordham's Steve Filipowicz, a power back.

* * *

All Big Ten teams are busy this week, which means Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin will be the only conference coach to get a peek at Syracuse's "Y" formation as cooked up by Ossie Solem. . . . Syracuse's appearance at Madison will mark its only trip west this year.

136 Richland Farmers Given $35,471 on 1941 Wheat.

Federal wheat loans totaling $35,471 have been granted to 136 Richland county farmers on their 1941 crop, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

County farmers last year received 165 loans, but the 1941 loans will be available until Dec. 1 and the total loans are expected to equal or exceed last year's figure, Taylor said.

As security for the loan, farmers have stored 32,413 bushels of wheat in farm bins and warehouses. Loans are being granted at the rate of $1.08 a bushel.

The loans, granted at slightly above the market price of wheat, enable farmers participating in the AAA program to hold their grain under seal for a better price and to avoid flooding the market after harvest season, Taylor said.

Organizations at Empire Steel Buy $13,350 In Bonds

Officials of employe organizations at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today announced that members of the Mutual Benefit association, the Civic fund organization and Delano lodge had together invested $13,350 in United States defense savings bonds.

Broken down, the amount invested is composed of investments of $9,990 by the benefit association, $1,860 from the civic fund and $1,500 by Delano lodge.

Aiding the purchases, which so far lead purchases made by any other Mansfield plant, is a system of booths at which employes may buy defense bonds and stamps.

One booth has been installed on the grounds of the plant so that workers may make their purchases as soon as they receive their paychecks.

Another booth has been erected in the offices of Delano lodge where investments can be made while members attend union meetings.

Members of the Westinghouse Employe's athletic and recration association announced Monday that they had purchased $5,625 worth of defense bonds which will mature at $7,500.

FRONTIER U. + + + + + +

By Orin Arnold
(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER IX

It was entirely characteristic of Joy Boone that she should make a two-way splash when she came to Frontier university.

"First thing, she had to make headlines by dropping out of a thunderstorm," Polly McMurray said to her brother, Ward. "Then she had to hire the college president's son for a chauffeur. Imagine!"

"Okay, Sis. But why be so worked up over it?"

Polly glared at him. This was Sunday after the big barbecue and dance at Paradise Ranch. "I'm not worked up!"

"Heck you aren't; Strung tight as a banjo. You got to remember she's Joy Boone. The one and only. The world expects her to do things."

"Well, she does!" Polly had to smile now.

"Sure. 'Swhy we like her. Isn't it?"

"Of course, Ward Joy is a very pretty somebody. I don't blame all you Arizona boys for acting a trifle ga-ga last night."

"Hey, hold on!"

"But after all, there were six hundred Frontier girls present! You apparently saw only one of them. You!"

Ward had been platting a horse's tail, to give it a wave. But he turned now to his sister. "Maybe you have a point there, at that. Still, the Boone person is definitely a boon. Know what I mean?"

"Yes Yes, Wardy. Yes-s-s!"

He grinned at her.

Their conversation was, in effect being duplicated in at least a thousand other places about Phoenix and Frontier U. this day. The local newspapers of course had covered the airplane excitement and then the big social doings at Paradise. Astute reporters had gotten the whole thrill of Joy's advent into Arizona society, missing none of the fun.

It all gave the eastern girl a send-off for Monday morning. Literally everybody on the campus knew her and she had to pretend she knew them. She was spotlighted with prominence here, but she was accustomed to that wherever she lived.

By Friday she had quite upset the gossips again. Far from being "just another pretty face," she had proven herself brilliant. Old Dr. Peabody in English Literature 310 said that her insight was remarkable, and Miss Hannelly the mathematics dean said that the new Boone girl was quickest of all the pupils she had known. She was doing well in music, and she found time to spend an hour each day at the college rifle and pistol range.

Dr. Palmer, president, watched the matter with interest.

That earnest educator also had noted the lavish way in which a rancher will spend his money on something he likes, and had seen Joy Boone spend generously on things she wanted. Somehow, he told himself, that golden flow could be diverted unselfishly to the advancement of learning; somehow he could tap that generosity for the benefit of the school he had sworn to serve.

"Frontier has limitless possibilities," he said, in his first address to the student body. "Phoenix has no other university and is growing rapidly, destined to be the capital city of the southwest. It's Frontier should be a co-educational school, unhampered by political or other affiliation. I pray for your help in bringing this about. How? I cannot say. We who work here must find an answer."

Polly McMurray got to know Dr. Palmer well because he and his son Ken drove out to Paradise Ranch three times in the first two weeks of school. The third time they brought Bettina Carlson with them. This was Sunday again.

"How is Joy, Miss Carlson?" Polly asked that afternoon.

"She is fine, honey. Don't you see her often on the campus? I had hoped you two might be friends."

"Oh, we are!" Polly hastened to assure her, almost overdoing it. "I mean — well, we don't have classes together, and she is awfully busy, I imagine."

"She's the new thrill in society," Ward put in. "Eh, Ken?"

"Quite so. Quite!"

"You talk like you knew!" Ward grinned at him. "They do say you and Joy get along."

Ken blushed at that. He had been ill at ease in Polly's presence ever since that night of the barbecue. He glanced self-consciously at her now and got the full effect of Polly's brown eyes, big and beautiful. He felt that they were accusing him.

* * *

That was because he really had been seen with Joy Boone a great deal. All at once, now, it occurred to him that he may have overdone companionship with her.

"See here, Polly," he began, lamely, "you don't think that I—I—?"

He was frowning a bit, in his own confusion

"That what, Ken?"

"I mean—well about me and Joy. Look, I want you and Ward to be my friends! It's just that Joy and I—" He halted again, finding his words inadequate.

Polly spoke quietly. "You don't have to apologize to me, Ken! What on earth made you think so?"

That didn't help the serious young man. "It's just that she and I—well look, Joy overwhelms one. And—"

"Doesn't she, though!" Polly allowed sarcasm to color that.

Ward took charge. "Cut it out," he ordered, amiably. "Anyway, Ken, I know just how you feel. A blond dream can hypnotize a fellow. I've got a new pistol. Long barrelled, for target work. Shoots .22 longs. Let's high-tail ourselves out to the arroyo yonder and see how it works. C'm on Sis."

They had been in the patio of the rambling Paradise ranch home, and as they walked through the broad arch that formed the central entrance way, they saw a horseback rider approaching.

"Hello, who's big black is that?" Ward asked, seeing the horse first. "And the—sa-a-a-ay!"

He ran out across the front lawn and onto the curved driveway, where he paused and removed his broad hat. Ken and Polly were staring at him. Ward McMurray made a picture there. Somewhat short of stature, but very broad, muscular, and erect. He moved with an athlete's grace. They could see his firm young face in profile now as he shaded it from September sun, and his fine teeth were brilliant against the tan skin of him.

"Miss Boone!" he greeted the newcomer "We were just wishing for you. Ken Palmer's here. And Polly. We were about to do some shooting on my target range. Come on!"

"Swell!" she cried, beaming down at him. "Can we all ride later?"

"Sure as you're born! I'll whistle up Pancho and have horses saddled. I like your black gelding. Where'd you rent him?"

"I bought him."

"He—he sets you off!"

Joy smiled her thanks. She had been shrewd enough to anticipate that, Polly McMurray knew. Polly was appraising the eastern girl again. Joy's expensive costume was a light powdery tone called "faded blue" in the smart Phoenix shops, with a crimson belt for deep color touch. The girl's fair skin and golden hair were indeed a crowning glory for a horse that was black and proud and shining Ward's admiration, very genuine, was quite understandable.

Polly greeted her sincerely, and if Ken was embarrassed it went ignored. Joy was bubbly with talk, as usual. She complimented Polly's own unmistakable good looks. She swung down from her horse with consummate grace and poise

"Want to try him now?" she invited, holding out the reins.

"You bet!" Ward answered "Pretty horses are second only to pretty women out west, Miss Boone! But — you first, Ken. You're a guest. You ride him."

Ken Palmer's eyes widened.

"Why, no. No, I—"

"Sure, sure, go on! Sis will try him next, then me. Lordy, but he's a spirited fellow! See how he rides, Ken. See how he feels."

Ward was honestly trying to be courteous. No greater pleasure could be offered a ranch man than the opportunity thus to try a fine new horse, and praising a horse is the best way to compliment its owner. Ken's protests were quite over-ridden by the other three youths here. Grimly, as if about to make his first jump from a high-diving board, he took the reins.

For the next sixty seconds no one spoke.

Ken walked to the right side of the horse. The right side!

Awkwardly he put foot to stirrup. "Whf-i-f-f!" the horse snorted.

Polly's chin dropped. Ward started to say something, frowning; then he restrained himself and stepped out to hold the horse's bridle, politely enabling Ken finally to mount. Plainly then they saw that Ken Palmer was pale! Ken bounced stiff as a board while the animal trotted off down the driveway.

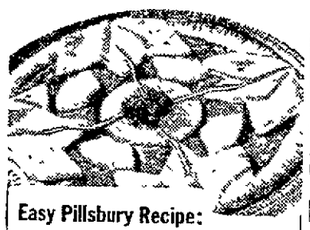
appetite appeal for a whole square meal



Easy Pillsbury Recipe:

1. Sift and measure 2 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour; add ¾ tsp baking powder and 1 tsp salt, sift twice (Enrichment of Pillsbury's Best in no way affects flavor or baking qualities, but adds two B vitamins and iron your family needs every day.) 2. Cut in ⅔ c shortening until quite fine, add 1½ c grated nippy cheese, mix well. 3. Add 4 to 6 Tbsps cold water gradually until dough is moist enough to hold together. 4. Roll ½ of dough for bottom piece in 9 in pie pan. 5. Pan fry ¾ c chopped onion and ¼ c chopped green pepper in 2 Tbsps butter, mix with 1½ c (¾ lb) each of ground cooked ham and veal. 6. Combine and add 1¼ c condensed tomato soup, ½ c. milk, ¼ c fine dry bread crumbs, 2 eggs, unbeaten, ¾ tsp salt, ⅛ tsp pepper. Blend well. Turn into pan. 7. Roll rest of pastry to ⅛ in thickness. Cut into 12 diamond shaped pieces. Arrange as illustrated. Seal to bottom crust, trim edges. 8. Place pineapple slices on top, brush with melted butter (Wait till you taste that tender flaky melt in your mouth pastry! hear the Ohs!" and Ahs!" around your table!) Then you'll know why it pays to use the flour that's bake-proved for your protection. Each hour during milling, samples of Pillsbury's Best are tested for uniform white color . . . baking quality you can be sure of. Moreover, actual baking tests are made four to six times daily. 9. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) for about 20 min. Cut in wedge shaped pieces, serve with hot tomato sauce. IT'S DREAMLIKE TO BOOM TOWN

Louisiana City Doubles Its Population Within the Past Year.

(By United Press)

ALEXANDRIA, La.—The whole nation may be feeling a moderate prosperity from national defense, but the overturning of the horn of plenty on defense boom towns like Alexandria still has residents blinking in astonishment.

In 1940, Alexandria was getting along fine with its population of 27,000. Today, as far as population is concerned, there are two cities where one used to be, estimates numbering present inhabitants at more than 54,000.

Hammer, saw, levels and T-squares—wielded by crews and crews of construction workers—have been building $66,000,000 worth of army camp housing outside the city over a space of six months.

And business—well, boom is too mild a word. For one month this year motor vehicle permits were 222.2 higher than for the same month last year, and building permits were up 267 per cent. There is a $900,000 federal housing project for defense workers and military men and private housing also is being rushed.

On Saturday afternoons the cause of the city's strange new clang and clatter becomes evident, as floods of khaki-clad youths flow into the streets and fill every public building and place of recreation. Walking and riding, they head for the movie houses, bars, pool rooms, cafes, libraries, depots, shooting galleries and the city hall lawn.

From plain old hamburger stands to restaurants in the mode moderne hundreds of new establishments have sprung up to cater to the service men. And the already-established places — which used to go to sleep about 11 with the rest of the city—are now on the universal 24-hour schedule.

The old town isn't what it used to be? Why, it isn't even the same place. New sewer systems, new water mains, additional electricity lines are going up. The city has fortune tellers, carnivals, tatoo artists, and commuters from 90 miles away—things it never saw before.

The old folks shake their heads when they remember the old town, and some wonder what will happen when the emergency ends—if perhaps it might not be an unmixed blessing.

STEELS, RAILS SHOW WAY IN MILD RALLIES

Hope For Mine Strike End Stimulates Bidding In Steel Issues.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and rails displayed mild rallying tendencies in today's stock market but many leaders remained in the apathetic division.

Early support was given U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, StandardOil (N. J.) and North American.

A trifle backward were American Telephone, Woolworth, Boeing, Chrysler and Phelps Dodge.

Hope for quick settlement of the captive coal mine strike seemed to bring in some bidding for steels. Earning statements helped individual stocks.

Trend analysts studied the compilation of Dun & Bradstreet which disclosed that bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended yesterday continued to top 1940 but were 13 per cent below the 12-year peak registered the week before.

Scant market cheer was found in the survey of the Engineering News-Record which estimated this week's heavy construction awards, while 46 per cent higher than the preceding week, were 35 per cent under the like period a year ago.

VOTE FOR THE TAX LEVY

As real estate brokers we are opposed to any increase in taxation. Occasionally, some proposed legislation has so much merit that our opposition is changed into support. After investigation and careful consideration we believe that the safety of the lives and property of our citizens requires much replacement and addition to the present fire fighting equipment. The money to be provided under this levy is "earmarked" and can be used only for this purpose. Therefore, we urge every taxpayer to VOTE FOR THE LEVY.
